U.S. Linked To Invasion Plot

Cuba Nabs 300, Shoots 75 In Plot To Kill Castro

HAVANA (AP)—About 300 persons have been rounded up and 75 shot in a purported plot to assassinate Prime Minister Fidel Castro and c'ear the way for an invasion, informed sources said today.

The informants said two counterrevolutionary groups were accused of plotting disorders in late August as a prelude to invasion and the overthrow of Castro's regime. Castro and other government figures were said to have been marked for death.

The two groups were identified as the anti-Communist Liberation Front known as the FAL and the Movement for the Recovery of the Cuban Revolution called the MRRC. The regime accused both of working closely with the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

The sources said those executed went before firing squads last week at La Cabana Fortress across the entrance to Havana Bay. Twenty-seven others were sentenced to from 2 to 30 years in prison. All were tried by a revolutionary tribunal.

The sources gave this account of the charges:

The FAL's uprising, set for late August, would begin with sabotage of the big Havana Light and Power station near the docks. It would spread to all provinces, with landings in eastern Cuba.

The MRRC, which included many active and retired police officials, would attempt assassinations of Castro and other leaders. It also would try to capture police stations near the presidential palace in Havana and at Santiago de Las Vegas, near the International Airport.

Informants identified six FAL men executed at La Cabana as Francisco Perez Menendez, Ventura Suarez Diaz, Sergio Valdez Sanchez, Pedro Silio Matos, Bernaba Corominas Portuondo and Cruz Alvarez Bernao.

They said these men, called members of the MRRC, were shot Sept. 19 or 20: Tomas Ruiz Santana, Evelio Hernandez Horta, Jesus Lazo Otano, Otto Rodriguez Dias, Felix Nicerany Reyes and Guillermo Reyes Ziada.

Havana Radio said Wednesday night that Cuban security officers recently arrested five men in suburban Havana. They were accused of trying to unify all anti-Castro elements in Cuba. The broadcast said arms also were seized.

Toronto Men Indicted For Area Robbery

3 Others Named In List Of Jefferson Grand Jury Session

The Jefferson County Grand Jury returned indictments against five Toronto residents — including two charged with breaking and entering of an Irondale grocery store — when it reported Wednesday in Common Pleas Court in Steubenville.

The jurors returned a total of 39 indictments against 34 defendants and ignored 33 cases.

Richard Eugene Turick, 24, and Joseph Wasoliff, 26, were named in indictments charging breaking and entering of Paisley Bros. general store in Irondale May 11 with intent to steal $299.72 in money and merchandise.

In addition, Turick was also named in an indictment charging reckless operation of a motor vehicle the same date. He is accused of backing his auto over an embankment accidentally while attempting to flee from the area of the store while Wasoliff still was inside, according to Jefferson County sheriff's deputies.

Richard Stanley Lewis, 18, was indicted on a charge of malicious entry of Hughes Furniture Store in Toronto Aug. 10, and a second count of larceny in the alleged theft of $152.80 in furniture.

Robert L. Heaton, 50, was indicted on three counts of driving while intoxicated, reckless operation and driving left of center on Route 7 between Toronto and Steubenville Sept. 2.

Another Toronto resident indicted was Richard F. Stacey, 26, accused of issuing checks of $20 and $18.16 with insufficient funds with intent to defraud Paul Hanks Feb. 14 and Feb. 24.

The panel ignored the case of John R. Provost of East Liverpool, accused of three charges of cashing checks with insufficient funds.

The defendants are to be arraigned Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. before Judge Arthur Hooper.

Kennedy Set For Wheeling Talk Tonight

WHEELING (AP) — Law enforcement agencies were expecting some 20,000 persons to turn out in Wheeling tonight for a major campaign speech by President Kennedy.

The partisan affair has been linked to the state's 1st District Congressional race which has Democratic Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey running for re-election against incumbent Republican Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr. However, the President's appearance also has been billed as one for all West Virginia Democratic candidates in the November general election.

The Kennedy visit is his first since October, 1960, when he delivered a general election campaign address in Charleston.

Tonight's speech is set for Wheeling Island Stadium after a motorcade from Wheeling Airport. The address will be carried over a statewide television network.

Gov. Barron was to be on hand at the airport to greet the President along with other state Democratic party officials.

The President will return to Washington after the speech, leaving Wheeling Ariport about 9 p.m.

Appeal Eyed In Ruling On County Job

LISBON — A ruling by a state Board of Review modifying a dismissal of Mrs. Jane Case, one-time Courthouse worker, from her job is expected to be appealed by the Columbiana County prosecutor's office, an aide said today.

The ruling from the Board of Review of the State Personnel Department, based on a hearing held here July 24, concerned the dismissal of Mrs. Case, a switchboard operator appointed by Democrats a number of years ago, by the Republican - dominated county commissioners in 1961.

The ruling of the three-member group modified the removal order to a disciplinary suspension of her job until Sept. 15 — commending her "good work record and faithful service." She was one of five county employes released.

Mrs. Case, restored by court action after the first dismissal, was subsequently released for alleged political activities incompatible with her county job. She was charged with circulating petitions and obtaining signatures and with holding office in a Democratic club.

The ruling was under a split vote, however, with Minor C. Kershman, chairman, and Reuben M. Payne, Democrats, favoring the suspension, and Paul F. Benson, Republican, backing the dismissal.

Assistant Prosecutor Howard Cole said this morning he anticipates an appeal on the ruling to Common Pleas Court. He said Prosecutor G. William Brokaw is out of town and will not return until Friday.

Cole said the letter on the ruling was received this morning, and was postmarked Wednesday at Columbus, explaining an appeal could not now be made before the order went into effect because the effective date has already passed.

Free Market Economy Gets Kennedy Nod

Predicts It Will Ultimately Eclipse Red Regimentation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, singing the praises of the free market economy, predicts it will ultimately win out over Red regimentation.

"The free market is a more efficient decision maker than even the wisest central planning body," Kennedy told about 350 editors and publishers of business magazines Wednesday.

He spent about a half hour telling the executives that the administration was by no means anti-business.

Held in the State Department auditorium, the session was like a news conference, with no live television or radio.

"Mr. President," one questioner wanted to know, "do you believe that your administration is unduly sensitive to the alleged hostility of the business world?"

"I would think," the President replied, "that we are sensitive naturally to hostility, if that were the appropriate description, by any segment of the economy. This system of ours really depends upon comity, upon cooperation, if it is going to function."

Another questioner, noting the President's remark that inflation had been avoided under his administration, asked if he really didn't believe that the law of supply and demand had more to do with this feat than government action.

Yes, that was a factor, the President acknowledged. But everybody laughed when he added that "I think we made a contribution which was unacknowledged and comparatively unsung last spring."

This was a reference to the hassle in which steel companies rolled back a price increase under pressure from Kennedy.

How, another questioner asked, does admiration for the free market jibe with price support operations, international and domestic?

Taken From Canadian Carrier

4 More Plane Survivors Picked Up By Helicopters

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Four more survivors from a ditched American airliner—one a pretty blonde with a spinal fracture — were brought ashore by helicopter today.

The four, together with the bodies of 12 persons who died in the Atlantic disaster 500 miles west of Ireland on Sunday, came from the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure.

Two helicopters flew in relays from the Bonaventure as she lay 36 miles from Shannon airport in the mouth of the Shannon River.

Those brought ashore were: Maj. Carl R. Elander of West Point, N.Y., and Seattle, Wash.; his honey-blonde wife, Lois; and two Army privates, George V. Brown of Oshkosh, Wis., and Arthur L. Gilbreth of Big Bear Lake, Calif.

Mrs. Elander, 31, had a broken arm and dislocated shoulder in addition to her spinal injury but she smiled gamely as she told interviewers how she survived the ditching.

"An unknown man reached out his arm and pulled me into a life raft just as I felt I was going under," she said.

"There were 52 people crowded into a raft built for 25, most of them big heavy men. We were stacked three deep with me underneath and I couldn't move my legs or arms.

"I kept calling out 'Dick', and then I heard him answer—just in time. The raft was filling with water, with my face pressed into it. Suddenly Dick reached out, got hold of my head and supported it above the water. Except for that, I would undoubtedly have died."

Resolution In Warning Cuba OK'd

House Adoption By 384-7 Vote Ends Congress' Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has completed action on a resolution endorsing the use of force if necessary to prevent Cuba from becoming a military threat to Western Hemisphere countries.

House adoption by a 384-7 vote Wednesday came after a full-scale debate on foreign policy and an unsuccessful effort by several members to have tougher language written in.

The Senate voted its approval last week, 86 to 1. President Kennedy is expected to sign the document. The administration already has endorsed its careful wording.

The resolution is intended as an expression of unified support for whatever action Kennedy considers necessary. In essence, he would be free to determine when and how the United States should act to block the spread of Cuban communism.

The President has declared he will do "whatever must be done" to protect the interests of the United States and its allies in this hemisphere.

By passing the resolution Congress went on record as being determined to prevent the creation in Cuba of a military capacity that would endanger the United States. Help is pledged anti-Communist Cubans who seek self-determination for their nation.

Republicans who toed the get-tough-line during debate wanted a more precise statement declaring that the Monroe Doctrine has already been violated in Cuba. The doctrine declared this hemisphere out-of-bounds for foreign powers.

A motion to send the resolution back to the Foreign Affairs Committee was defeated 251 to 140. All but three of its supporters were Republicans.

Voter Total Hits 10,198

Registration Ends With Gain Of 202

The County Election Board said today 10,198 city voters are qualified to vote at the Nov. 6 general election following the registration deadline Wednesday night.

A total of 97 persons registered yesterday at the board's office on W. 6th St. and at branch centers in Pleasant Heights, North Side and East End, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

The unofficial total of 10,198 represents a gain of 202 since Jan. 1 when the rolls showed 9,996 qualified after a year-end check in which 434 persons were dropped for failure to vote, O'Hanlon said.

"It's one of the quietest registration periods in years," O'Hanlon said, explaining registrations this year haven't kept pace with deaths.

The total is far below the city's high of 12,642 recorded several years ago, O'Hanlon explained. The drop is blamed chiefly on migration to Liverpool and St. Clair Townships and construction of the city freeway which eliminated some 150 homes in the West End, he said.

The unofficial total might drop slightly when the board checks for duplicate registrations and begins to compile alphabetical lists of qualified voters to be posted in the city's precincts.

MISSISSIPPI GOV. ROSS BARNETT is shown being escorted to an awaiting car at Oxford, Miss., Wednesday after spending about four hours on the University of Mississippi campus. The governor had planned, so it is thought, to have been at Ole Miss when Negro James Meredith arrived earlier but was about 15 minutes late. Sources said the 64-year-old governor was going back to the state capital in Jackson. (UPI Telephoto)

Enrollment Effort Not Indicated

Negro Reported In Memphis; U.S. Sifts Decision On Troops

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi officers guarding the gates of the University of Mississippi against Negro James H. Meredith were issued helmets and gas masks today.

The officers tried on the gas masks, then left them out of their bags, wearing them over their shoulders.

They wore steel helmet liners and carried billy clubs.

Gov. Ross Barnett—twice openly defiant of federal court orders in personally rejecting Meredith's attempts to enroll—was on the campus, arriving by car about 8 a.m.

As they did Wednesday when they turned back Meredith and a cordon of federal marshals, the officers wore no sidearms.

No gas guns or gas bombs were in evidence.

There were no indications that Meredith planned another attempt to enroll today—it would be his fourth try at knocking down a century of segregation policy at Ole Miss.

The 29-year-old Negro was reported to be at Memphis, Tenn., but he had a news conference scheduled for this afternoon at New Orleans, La.

While the federal government wrestled with the decision of whether to send in troops to back up federal court orders for Meredith's enrollment in the 114-year-old Deep South school, Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson blocked Meredith near the main gate to the campus Wednesday.

It was Meredith's third unsuccessful try.

Johnson stood before a cordon of highway patrolmen at the campus gate. Five cars of federal marshals arrived with Meredith.

Mother's Car Rams Truck, Child Injured

Elizabeth St. Crash Among 3 Reported In City Wednesday

A 4-year-old girl was injured early Wednesday afternoon when her mother's auto rammed the rear of a halted truck, one of three crashes investigated yesterday by police.

Marcie Oakes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Oakes, 2115 Michigan Ave., was treated at City Hospital for an abrasion of the left cheek suffered in the crash at 12:17 p. m. on Elizabeth St.

The crash involved a Hays Oil Co. tractor operated by Ralph H. Funk, 56, of Park Way and a 1958 station wagon driven by Mrs. Oakes, 32, police said.

Mrs. Oakes told officers she thought the truck had started to move because the traffic signal was changing. Funk said he had halted for the light when his truck was struck.

Police said there was heavy damage to the hood, right front fender, grille and radiator of the Oakes' station wagon. A tail-light on the tractor was broken, they said.

A collision at 4:10 p. m. at Pennsylvania Ave. and Park Way involved eastbound cars operated by Margaret E. Robbins, 54, of 707 Broadway, Wellsville, and Frances L. Wilson, 28, of 508 E. 5th St., police said.

Cars operated by David H. McPherson, 39, of 108 1st St., Chester, and Merrill D. Hall, 219 Pennsylvania Ave., were involved in a crash at 5:15 p. m. on Broadway south of Diamond Alley.

McPherson reported to police he had entered Broadway from Potters Alley and Hall backed into the lane of traffic, striking the right front end of his 1962 auto.

Attention all Masons! Please assemble at Masonic Temple on Broadway at 7 p.m. for services tonight for late brother Fred Bickerton. By order of Worshipful Master.—Adv.

Liberal Rebel Army Seizes Yemen Power

ADEN (AP)—A "liberal revolutionary army" announced today it has seized power in the kingdom of Yemen and an informed source in neighboring Aden said the new ruler, Imam Mohammad Al-Badr was assassinated Wednesday night.

Cairo Radio also announced the coup but declared the Imam had been deposed, not assassinated.

Apparently, the rebels are friends of President Nasser's United Arab Republic, with which the primitive little kingdom once had a loose federation.

Nasser and his program of Pan-Arabism are known to have support among some military men in Yemen, Saudi Arabia and other Arab states.

Al-Badr, 35, ascended the throne Sept. 19 after his father, Imam Ahmed, a frequent target of assassins, died of natural causes.

Wants End Of Tension

England Presses U.N. For Stand Against Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Britain today urged all members of the United Nations to make it unmistakably clear they want the Soviet Union to end the tension surrounding the Berlin wall and negotiate a settlement of the Berlin problem.

In a policy speech before the 108-nation General Assembly, Foreign Secretary Lord Home spoke out strongly against Communist policy on Berlin and elsewhere. But he appealed for "a more active use of the process of conciliation everywhere."

"The first and most dangerous cause of conflict," he said, "is the Communist effort to impose their system on the rest of the world by that type of political warfare, backed by force, they call peaceful coexistence."

In keeping with the British position that Cuba is primarily a U.S. problem, Home made only one brief reference to Cuba. He simply quoted a question asked last week by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as to whether U.S. Cuban policy meant that a stronger country had the right to gobble up a weaker country.

"Well, he ought to know," the British foreign secretary commented. "But if he doesn't he might ask the Chinese."

In the Assembly Wednesday, Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake of New Zealand said that in the Soviet-U.S. dispute over Cuba, "Peace depends on the two superpowers showing almost superhuman responsibility and restraint."

Knowles Co. Employes To Meet Tonight

Stockholders of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. reconvened this afternoon to decide the future of the Newell concern and a committee of the employes has called a meeting tonight to discuss possible means of keeping the pottery in operation.

The meeting of stockholders this afternoon will concern possible sale of the firm as an alternative to liquidation.

It will be a continuation of a meeting held Sept. 13 when the session was adjourned to permit the corporation's officers to continue negotiations with unnamed parties.

The unidentified persons, the company said in a statement, had expressed an interest in acquiring the corporation with a view of continuing operations.

A four-member committee of employes called a meeting of all employes other than supervisory personnel for tonight at 7:30 at the VFW home.

The call for the meeting was issued by Larry Finlay, Wilbur Brookes and Charles Wynn of East Liverpool and Luther Hough of Chester.

Finlay said a report will be made by the committee concerning a meeting held with management Wednesday at the plant, and discussion will be held "on possible alternatives."

Finlay said the committee requested that supervisory personnel not attend.

Resolution In Warning Cuba OK'd

House Adoption By 384-7 Vote Ends Congress' Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has completed action on a resolution endorsing the use of force if necessary to prevent Cuba from becoming a military threat to Western Hemisphere countries.

House adoption by a 384-7 vote Wednesday came after a full-scale debate on foreign policy and an unsuccessful effort by several members to have tougher language written in.

The Senate voted its approval last week, 86 to 1. President Kennedy is expected to sign the document. The administration already has endorsed its careful wording.

The resolution is intended as an expression of unified support for whatever action Kennedy considers necessary. In essence, he would be free to determine when and how the United States should act to block the spread of Cuban communism.

Voter Total Hits 10,198

Registration Ends With Gain Of 202

The County Election Board said today 10,198 city voters are qualified to vote at the Nov. 6 general election following the registration deadline Wednesday night.

A total of 97 persons registered yesterday at the board's office on W. 6th St. and at branch centers in Pleasant Heights, North Side and East End, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

The unofficial total of 10,198 represents a gain of 202 since Jan. 1 when the rolls showed 9,996 qualified after a year-end check in which 434 persons were dropped for failure to vote, O'Hanlon said.

"It's one of the quietest registration periods in years," O'Hanlon said, explaining registrations this year haven't kept pace with deaths.

The total is far below the city's high of 12,642 recorded several years ago, O'Hanlon explained. The drop is blamed chiefly on migration to Liverpool and St. Clair Townships and construction of the city freeway which eliminated some 150 homes in the West End, he said.

The unofficial total might drop slightly when the board checks for duplicate registrations and begins to compile alphabetical lists of qualified voters to be posted in the city's precincts.

Mother's Car Rams Truck, Child Injured

Elizabeth St. Crash Among 3 Reported In City Wednesday

A 4-year-old girl was injured early Wednesday afternoon when her mother's auto rammed the rear of a halted truck, one of three crashes investigated yesterday by police.

Marcie Oakes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Oakes, 2115 Michigan Ave., was treated at City Hospital for an abrasion of the left cheek suffered in the crash at 12:17 p. m. on Elizabeth St.

The crash involved a Hays Oil Co. tractor operated by Ralph H. Funk, 56, of Park Way and a 1958 station wagon driven by Mrs. Oakes, 32, police said.

Mrs. Oakes told officers she thought the truck had started to move because the traffic signal was changing. Funk said he had halted for the light when his truck was struck.

Police said there was heavy damage to the hood, right front fender, grille and radiator of the Oakes' station wagon. A tail-light on the tractor was broken, they said.

A collision at 4:10 p. m. at Pennsylvania Ave. and Park Way involved eastbound cars operated by Margaret E. Robbins, 54, of 707 Broadway, Wellsville, and Frances L. Wilson, 28, of 508 E. 5th St., police said.

Cars operated by David H. McPherson, 39, of 108 1st St., Chester, and Merrill D. Hall, 219 Pennsylvania Ave., were involved in a crash at 5:15 p. m. on Broadway south of Diamond Alley.

McPherson reported to police he had entered Broadway from Potters Alley and Hall backed into the lane of traffic, striking the right front end of his 1962 auto.

Liberal Rebel Army Seizes Yemen Power

ADEN (AP)—A "liberal revolutionary army" announced today it has seized power in the kingdom of Yemen and an informed source in neighboring Aden said the new ruler, Imam Mohammad Al-Badr was assassinated Wednesday night.

Cairo Radio also announced the coup but declared the Imam had been deposed, not assassinated.

Apparently, the rebels are friends of President Nasser's United Arab Republic, with which the primitive little kingdom once had a loose federation.

Nasser and his program of Pan-Arabism are known to have support among some military men in Yemen, Saudi Arabia and other Arab states.

Al-Badr, 35, ascended the throne Sept. 19 after his father, Imam Ahmed, a frequent target of assassins, died of natural causes.

Knowles Co. Employes To Meet Tonight

Stockholders of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. reconvened this afternoon to decide the future of the Newell concern and a committee of the employes has called a meeting tonight to discuss possible means of keeping the pottery in operation.

The meeting of stockholders this afternoon will concern possible sale of the firm as an alternative to liquidation.

It will be a continuation of a meeting held Sept. 13 when the session was adjourned to permit the corporation's officers to continue negotiations with unnamed parties.

The unidentified persons, the company said in a statement, had expressed an interest in acquiring the corporation with a view of continuing operations.

A four-member committee of employes called a meeting of all employes other than supervisory personnel for tonight at 7:30 at the VFW home.

The call for the meeting was issued by Larry Finlay, Wilbur Brookes and Charles Wynn of East Liverpool and Luther Hough of Chester.

Finlay said a report will be made by the committee concerning a meeting held with management Wednesday at the plant, and discussion will be held "on possible alternatives."

Finlay said the committee requested that supervisory personnel not attend.

Taken From Canadian Carrier

4 More Plane Survivors Picked Up By Helicopters

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Four more survivors from a ditched American airliner—one a pretty blonde with a spinal fracture — were brought ashore by helicopter today.

The four, together with the bodies of 12 persons who died in the Atlantic disaster 500 miles west of Ireland on Sunday, came from the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure.

Two helicopters flew in relays from the Bonaventure as she lay 36 miles from Shannon airport in the mouth of the Shannon River.

Those brought ashore were: Maj. Carl R. Elander of West Point, N.Y., and Seattle, Wash.; his honey-blonde wife, Lois; and two Army privates, George V. Brown of Oshkosh, Wis., and Arthur L. Gilbreth of Big Bear Lake, Calif.

Mrs. Elander, 31, had a broken arm and dislocated shoulder in addition to her spinal injury but she smiled gamely as she told interviewers how she survived the ditching.

"An unknown man reached out his arm and pulled me into a life raft just as I felt I was going under," she said.

"There were 52 people crowded into a raft built for 25, most of them big heavy men. We were stacked three deep with me underneath and I couldn't move my legs or arms.

"I kept calling out 'Dick', and then I heard him answer—just in time. The raft was filling with water, with my face pressed into it. Suddenly Dick reached out, got hold of my head and supported it above the water. Except for that, I would undoubtedly have died."

Wants End Of Tension

England Presses U.N. For Stand Against Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Britain today urged all members of the United Nations to make it unmistakably clear they want the Soviet Union to end the tension surrounding the Berlin wall and negotiate a settlement of the Berlin problem.

In a policy speech before the 108-nation General Assembly, Foreign Secretary Lord Home spoke out strongly against Communist policy on Berlin and elsewhere. But he appealed for "a more active use of the process of conciliation everywhere."

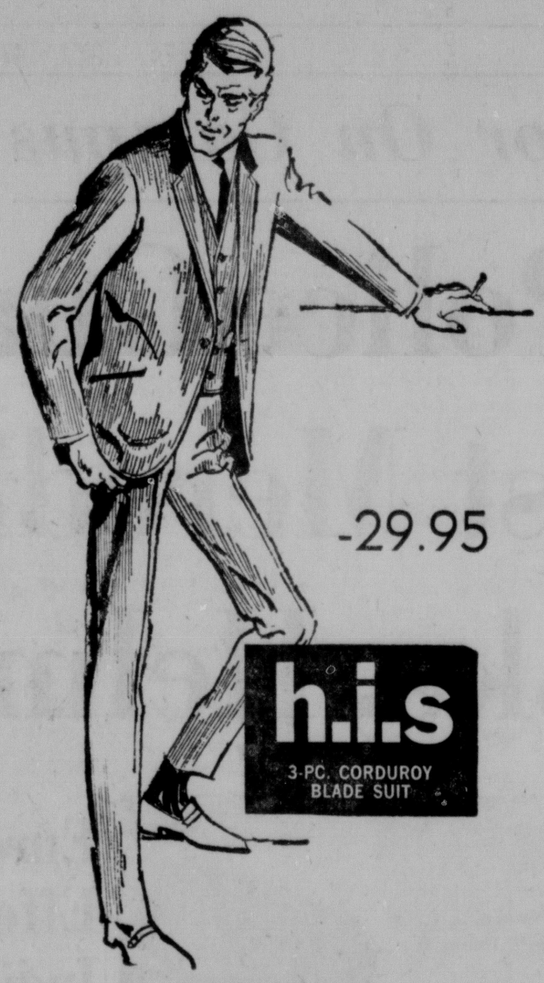

"The first and most dangerous cause of conflict," he said, "is the Communist effort to impose their system on the rest of the world by that type of political warfare, backed by force, they call peaceful coexistence."

In keeping with the British position that Cuba is primarily a U.S. problem, Home made only one brief reference to Cuba. He simply quoted a question asked last week by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as to whether U.S. Cuban policy meant that a stronger country had the right to gobble up a weaker country.

"Well, he ought to know," the British foreign secretary commented. "But if he doesn't he might ask the Chinese."

In the Assembly Wednesday, Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake of New Zealand said that in the Soviet-U.S. dispute over Cuba, "Peace depends on the two superpowers showing almost superhuman responsibility and restraint."

Deaths Mount In Flood-Hit Spanish Area

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—The bereaved gathered their dead for mass burials in flood-ravaged Barcelona Province today as the death roll mounted in Spain's worst natural disaster of modern times.

An official casualty list issued by provincial authorities said 341 persons died in Wednesday's rain-triggered floods, 546 were injured and 464 were still missing. More than 1,500 were without homes.

The raging waters destroyed at least 25 factories and partly wrecked 50 others, leaving damage estimated at upwards of $80 million.

About 10,000 were left jobless by the floods, which laid waste a thickly populated industrial complex covering 150 square miles north and west of Barcelona, chief port of Spain.

Fed by a nine-hour rain and driven by hurricane force winds, the racing waters quickly filled up river beds dry from a long drought, then swept far beyond the banks. They crumpled mills and bore off cottages. Many persons died in their sleep as the floods leveled their homes. Others perished at work as factories collapsed.

Tarrasa, an industrial community of 120,000 about 10 miles northwest of Barcelona, bore the brunt of the floods.

Residents had just wound up a weeklong celebration of the festival of Our Lady of Mercy and gone to bed when the storm struck. Some were crushed in their beds as walls collapsed and ceilings crashed down.

Survival Is Not Contempt

A 10-5 turndown by the Senate Judiciary Committee disposes of the recommendation by an antitrust and monopoly subcommittee for contempt citations against Republic Steel and three other companies.

It disposes of two other things too.

One is Sen. Kefauver's one-man effort to make major steel companies submit confidential information on their production costs. It now seems likely that neither the four companies which risked a contempt citation by refusing to provide the information nor the companies which stood ready to provide it, though unwilling, will be harassed further by the Kefauver tactics.

The other thing disposed of is the government credo that became current after the steel industry's abortive effort to raise prices last spring — that business survival constitutes contempt for government authority.

When the Kennedy administration delivered its now-historic crackdown on the industry, it left the impression that it had acted against public policy and public welfare by seeking upward price adjustments.

It further left the impression that the full authority of government would be ranged against the industry, if necessary. This impression later was to be modified by conciliatory statements from Kennedy administration spokesmen, but damage had been done.

The Kefauver subcommittee's move looked like a tail-end action by a hostile group, not like an administration policy. And now the hostility of the Kefauver group has been nullified by a 10-5 vote of the major committee.

The war isn't over, but business-baiting has lost a battle.

Trying to survive in business is not contempt of the Kennedy administration, the Congress of the United States, or the American people.

A Slippery Stretch

The last rain touched off more complaints about the hazardous condition of the East End section of Pennsylvania Ave. when wet.

Some motorists tell of losing control as their cars swerved on the slick surface. Defects in the pavement also were pointed out as a major headache. And with winter just around the corner, fear has been expressed that the situation will worsen as snow and ice set in.

It seems advisable that the administration look into the condition of the road before the weather turns bad. And motorists, by all means, should exercise extreme care when traveling the thoroughfare.

Medicare Issue Still In Doubt

President Kennedy's piping promise to Ohio Democrats to resume the fight for "medicare" next January is subject to revision, like all political promises.

The revision will be subject, in turn, to the congressional elections this year, when the "medicare" issue will be tested by candidates for the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Candidates who think there is important vote mileage in the issue will exploit it to the full extent of their vote-soliciting ability. If they win because of this issue, they will want to take a stand on it in the 88th Congress. If they conclude it either did not help them or didn't help them enough to be of any importance, they will shy away from it.

In any event it will not be the firecracker that it was cracked up to be at the outset of the second session this year. Hard-bitten politicians were not impressed with it.

Even those who had calculated correctly that its political usefulness was not in passing it and setting up a "medicare" system but only in talking about it were not impressed. It failed to catch on with the public.

The American people are intensely interested in medical care. There is special interest in medical care for the aged who lack the means of underwriting the cost of long and serious illnesses under modern medical care.

But there is no disposition to jump to the conclusion that the answer is a plan called "'medicare." There is, rather, a tendency to arrive gradually at a conclusion that there will need to be a variety of answers, perhaps including government intercession but not limiting the solution to one particular program offered by government.

If an overwhelming majority of voters decided that the Kennedy "medicare" proposal was the only solution to the problem of high medical costs, their will would prevail. Until and unless this is established by the 1962 congressional elections, "medicare" is just another issue of dubious value at the polls.

Defeated Challenger

The challenger that didn't win a championship Tuesday, the sloop Gretel, will return to Australia without the American's Cup—and as Sir Frank Packer, head of the syndicate that backed the challenge philosophizes, "The sun will rise tomorrow."

Could there be any great disparity than that between the American's Cup challenge and other competitive sports? That is the fascination of the event for most of us—the idea of all the money, skill, risk and adventure that go into these contests which only a few thousand people can understand, though millions watch and wonder.

Contestants actually helping each other to compete and sharing the pleasure of victory . . .

Losers admiring winners and winners admiring losers . . .

It's effete, that's what it is. But otherwise it's so admirable it makes even a rank outsider wish he could learn how they do it.

Electricity And Gasoline

A routine change in U.S. Department of Agriculture standards for "life in the country" has dropped electricity as a criterion. Electricity now is universal.

Oddly, however, the automobile has been retained as a criterion. This means electricity now is in such universal use in rural areas it no longer is a status symbol but automobiles still are exceptional in backward areas.

Universal electricity . . .

As recently as the 1930s this was a distant goal. Electric companies were doing a spotty job of extending their service. Even on the outskirts of cities, in areas subsequently taken over by "urban sprawl," electricity frequently was still unattainable.

The Rural Electrification Administration put extra voltage into the drive to electrify the countryside. The result as it is seen today is the secret of the way modern Americans are living.

A combination of gasoline and electricity obliterated municipal boundaries. The combination mafe it feasible for people to leapfrog beyond the suburbs into the country. In less than a generation the pattern of life in the United States has been altered more drastically than in the entire history of the republic.

The time already is in sight when high-speed roads and airplanes will make it feasible for people to live anywhere they choose—in town, in the suburbs, in the country, in another state.

A whole set of new definitions will be needed to keep places of residence catalogued. Electricity has become the common denominator of life, not geography.

In The Still Of The Night

Strike Threat Hangs Over Steel

By Victor Riesel

Sleepless and haggard government officials, who have been wallowing in waterfront, railroad and aerospace emergencies, now believe that a new steel crisis is beginning to zero in on them and the country.

Victor Riesel

There might well be a national steel strike. True, it can't come until next summer. But that's exactly the position the President and the nation were in a year ago.

At that time, Sept. 6, 1961, John Kennedy wrote to the heads of all major steel firms urging them not to raise prices and predicting that the union would limit its demands "next spring."

The steel firms replied they could not promise. Seven months later they attempted to raise those prices after giving the steel workers a 10.9 cents an hour increase per man in benefits.

ONE INCIDENT not reported that famous week in April came early on the morning of the 11th, after Mr. Labor himself, George Meany, had issued a statement praising the President's lightning action against the U.S. Steel Corp.

President Kennedy personally lifted the phone and called Meany. Saying hello, he soon added, "Have you ever seen so many ---s?" Terse and blunt-speaking Meany replied, "Yes." The President roared with laughter. No one knows what his reaction will be to the coming steel crisis. He will be on the spot. If the President does make similar calls seven months from today, it is not clear now whom he will have in mind.

Much depends on the statesmanship of silver-haired, pipe-smoking steel union president, David McDonald. He too has a critical decision to make. Few realize it, but the United Steelworkers of America, under the contract signed last spring, has the right to reopen the pact by giving 90 days' notice after May 1, '63. After Aug. 1 the union can strike the national steel industry.

Under that pact, nursed by Mr. Goldberg, the union can ask for higher wages, bigger pensions, larger insurance benefits. Also a number of items coming under the jurisdiction of the joint labor-management Human Relations Committee.

THESE ITEMS include the right of the steel firms to contract out some construction work instead of having the steel company employes do it themselves. Also whether some foreman can do actual production work in the plants.

There were influential delegates at the steel union Miami convention who insisted that the union put forward a hefty set of demands. The talk centered around the chances of winning another 10 cent-an-hour package.

Industry spokesmen say they can't go for another such package, or anywhere near it. They say that last April's agreement increased the cost of a steelworker from $4.12 an hour to $4.30. They add that another dime an hour would cost them another $140 million a year, thus cutting the total industry's profit from $690 million annually to some $400 million annually in a two-year period.

IN PITTSBURGH the other day, E. Heath Larry, a U.S. Steel vice president, said bluntly that the time has come for unions not to consider it a sacrifice to ask for nothing additional at contract time. There are union leaders who say that the companies are able to give. But it is positive that the firms won't without a struggle or renewed pressure from the President himself.

In view of the White House sensitivity over charges of being anti-business, it is not likely at this minute anyway that lightning will strike twice.

At the moment the President and his professorial, cautious secretary of labor, William Willard Wirtz are not repeating history. A year ago, with the steel contract still some nine months to run, President Kennedy dispatched his famous letters, now forgotten. However, he has not done so this time.

This may mean a change in approach, now that Mr. Goldberg has gone to higher places. Mr. Wirtz does not believe in moving the government in as swiftly as did Mr. Goldberg, nor in lifting the phone to labor leaders and saying, "The President asked me to . . ."

WIRTZ BELIEVES in less personal diplomacy and more hard bargainng and more adherence to the absolute letter of the labor law.

There is a dramatic example on the waterfront. For weeks now it has appeared that a longshoremen's strike of 90,000 men in all ports from upper Maine to lower Texas has been inevitable. Dealers in perishables have been warned by their association to get their produce across the seas and out of the ship holds.

However, this time there has not been the personal intervention, nor the informal White House telephoning. The theory now is to let it go all the way through the formal federal mediation services — and then let the President crack down with an injunction if the national welfare is actually threatened.

It may work better than the previous, more daring tactics. It may not. But there is a change in the air. Steel will tell.

Time To Stand Firm

By David Lawrence

Foreign Aid Bill Opposition Mounts

It should not be difficult now for President Kennedy to understand why there's so much opposition in Congress to the foreign aid bill.

David Lawrence

Maybe it will be easier for the British government to understand a demand that may come someday from the American people that American troops and also financial aid be withdrawn from Europe.

For no less a person than the member of the British Cabinet who heads up the treasury department in London has just told an American audience on television that Cuba is "essentially an American problem," and hence Britain couldn't pledge support for an economic blockade. The foreign minister of Norway also told Secretary of State Rusk that Cuba is "an American problem."

Supposing the United States had said to the world that Vietnam was "essentially an Asian problem"? Supposing that President Eisenhower, instead of landing Marines in Lebanon, had said the Soviet aggression in that area was "essentially a Middle East problem"?

Supposing President Kennedy had said in recent months that the fate of Berlin was "essentially a European problem"?

What would have been the reaction then in London and in other European capitals?

Cuba is not "an American problem." It is a world problem because Soviet aggression recognizes no geographical limits. The military and economic sinews of Castro's government are being provided today by the Soviet Union.

The United States rightly seeks to impose an economic blockade on Cuba. Secretary Rusk is meeting with foreign ministers of various countries this week to persuade them to help by requiring their ships not to carry cargoes to Cuba. Even Canada — our next-door neighbor — has been hesitating to go along.

NATURALLY, the businessmen in these countries are opposed to any embargo on trade with Cuba. Will material interests and selfishness, however, prevail against a policy of checkmating the Soviet Union's aggression? Failure of the Western countries to work together in the 1930s caused the collapse of the economic blockade against Mussolini imposed by the League of Nations.

World War II came as a result of the Nazi belief in the apparent disunity on our side.

It is already being argued by some governments that their ships are under long-term charter and can't be persuaded to withhold their transportation facilities but, in a matter of preserving the peace of the world, the larger interest should, of course, prevail.

If it doesn't, will not public opinion in the United States tend to be less concerned about threats by the Soviet Union to European countries?

The whole future of foreign aid, moreover, will be dealt a body blow if the principal nations of the world continue to evade their own obligation to help carry the financial burden of America's troops in Europe and in other countries.

THE TAXPAYERS of the United States will not long support such a one-sided arrangement. Rep. Otto Passman, D-La, who has led the fight against the foreign aid bill and succeeded in lopping off a sizable amount from it in the House at this session, will gain many more supporters next year if the European governments ignore Soviet military aggression in this hemisphere and continue to insist that the United States should pay most of the cost of its military forces assembled to check Soviet aggression in Europe, Asia and Africa.

Also, the United States government has just dramatically come to the rescue of the United Nations by voting a $100 million purchase of bonds to pay the expenses of the U.N. armies in Africa. The President of the United States didn't say that the Congo mess was "essentially an African problem."

Maybe the charitable explanation of all this is that neither the newspapers of Europe nor the American ambassadors there have conveyed the whole story of how the people of this country really feel about the Soviet infiltration and military buildup in Cuba.

One reason for this may be because President Kennedy and Secretary of State Rusk have maintained a mistaken policy of silence. They haven't said a word publicly to the government of the Soviet Union to protest what it has done in Cuba.

THE REPORTED explanation is that Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Rusk have insisted that to do so would "increase tensions" over Berlin. But tensions have increased now not only over Berlin but over Cuba.

The West gives the impression of timidity if not of fear to notify the Soviet Union that it has deliberately interfered in the Western Hemisphere and has assisted a dictatorship to continue to deprive the Cuban people of their sovereign rights.

A real opportunity has been missed by the Kennedy administration to make it clear everywhere that what has happened in Cuba in the last two years is a world problem, and that the aggression by the Soviets must be checked by the free world.

For this is no time for neutralism either by the smaller countries or by the larger nations that regularly receive financial or economic or military aid from the taxpayers of the United States.

Politics In Iran

Effect Seen In Quake Aftermath

TEHERAN

The victims of the Iranian earthquake on Sept. 1, in which more than a hundred villages were devastated and more than 2,500 people lost their lives, have also become the victims of politics to some extent.

The greatest problem in the area around Bouin and Danisfahan is to get the badly shocked survivors to cooperate with the relief teams in erecting new villages.

Much of the apathy of the peasants stems from a deep-rooted Muslim fatalism which makes them regard the disaster as a punishment by God. Some landowners are reported to encourage this by telling the villagers that the earthquake was God's way of punishing the government for introducing its land reform system, under which the landlords would lose most of their holdings.

There has also been an almost total boycott of the Red Lion and Sun Society, Persia's Red Cross, because the Society is generally distrusted.

It has been claimed that on past occasions blankets and clothing donated to the society for relief during national disasters never reached the victims. One man alleged he had seen blankets donated for the victims of the Lar earthquake two years ago on sale in the local bazaar.

The boycott of the Red Lion and Sun, which is headed by a number of prominent people in the capital, was immediate. Local donors of food and clothing preferred to transport them to the quake area themselves or have them taken by private means.

During a weekend exodus from Tehran of private cars loaded with supplies, the vehicles were stopped on the road by officials who asked the owners to hand over the goods to the authorized distributing agency, the society. The donors refused, saying they would rather not donate at all. In the end they were allowed to proceed.

In Qazvin, the town nearest the quake zone, members of the National Front, Dr. Moussadek's old party, distributed leaflets calling for a full boycott of the Lion and Sun, and later in the week the society's premises in the town were set on fire.

The Shah has ordered the setting up of a committee of theologians, respected merchants and engineers to supervise the expenditure of all financial aid received by the Society, much of which has come from abroad. The public's lack of confidence in the agency has deeply disturbed the government.

Politics have also touched on the dispatch of aid from abroad. An early offer of medical teams by West Germany was turned down by Iran on the grounds that they were not needed, there being a sufficiency of doctors and nurses in the earthquake zone by this time. German correspondents claim, however, that Iran feared Russian repercussions if West German relief teams, military and otherwise, were allowed into the country.

If they win because of this issue, they will want to take a stand on it in the 88th Congress. If they conclude it either did not help them or didn't help them enough to be of any importance, they will shy away from it.

In any event it will not be the firecracker that it was cracked up to be at the outset of the second session this year. Hard-bitten politicians were not impressed with it.

Even those who had calculated correctly that its political usefulness was not in passing it and setting up a "medicare" system but only in talking about it were not impressed. It failed to catch on with the public.

The American people are intensely interested in medical care. There is special interest in medical care for the aged who lack the means of underwriting the cost of long and serious illnesses under modern medical care.

But there is no disposition to jump to the conclusion that the answer is a plan called "'medicare." There is, rather, a tendency to arrive gradually at a conclusion that there will need to be a variety of answers, perhaps including government intercession but not limiting the solution to one particular program offered by government.

If an overwhelming majority of voters decided that the Kennedy "medicare" proposal was the only solution to the problem of high medical costs, their will would prevail. Until and unless this is established by the 1962 congressional elections, "medicare" is just another issue of dubious value at the polls.

Defeated Challenger

The challenger that didn't win a championship Tuesday, the sloop Gretel, will return to Australia without the American's Cup—and as Sir Frank Packer, head of the syndicate that backed the challenge philosophizes, "The sun will rise tomorrow."

Could there be any great disparity than that between the American's Cup challenge and other competitive sports? That is the fascination of the event for most of us—the idea of all the money, skill, risk and adventure that go into these contests which only a few thousand people can understand, though millions watch and wonder.

Contestants actually helping each other to compete and sharing the pleasure of victory . . .

Losers admiring winners and winners admiring losers . . .

It's effete, that's what it is. But otherwise it's so admirable it makes even a rank outsider wish he could learn how they do it.

Electricity And Gasoline

A routine change in U.S. Department of Agriculture standards for "life in the country" has dropped electricity as a criterion. Electricity now is universal.

Oddly, however, the automobile has been retained as a criterion. This means electricity now is in such universal use in rural areas it no longer is a status symbol but automobiles still are exceptional in backward areas.

Universal electricity . . .

As recently as the 1930s this was a distant goal. Electric companies were doing a spotty job of extending their service. Even on the outskirts of cities, in areas subsequently taken over by "urban sprawl," electricity frequently was still unattainable.

The Rural Electrification Administration put extra voltage into the drive to electrify the countryside. The result as it is seen today is the secret of the way modern Americans are living.

A combination of gasoline and electricity obliterated municipal boundaries. The combination mafe it feasible for people to leapfrog beyond the suburbs into the country. In less than a generation, the pattern of life in the United States has been altered more drastically than in the entire history of the republic.

The time already is in sight when high-speed roads and airplanes will make it feasible for people to live anywhere they choose—in town, in the suburbs, in the country, in another state.

A whole set of new definitions will be needed to keep places of residence catalogued. Electricity has become the common denominator of life, not geography.

Strike Threat Hangs Over Steel

By Victor Riesel

Sleepless and haggard government officials, who have been wallowing in waterfront, railroad and aerospace emergencies, now believe that a new steel crisis is beginning to zero in on them and the country.

Victor Riesel

There might well be a national steel strike. True, it can't come until next summer. But that's exactly the position the President and the nation were in a year ago.

At that time, Sept. 6, 1961, John Kennedy wrote to the heads of all major steel firms urging them not to raise prices and predicting that the union would limit its demands "next spring."

The steel firms replied they could not promise. Seven months later they attempted to raise those prices after giving the steel workers a 10.9 cents an hour increase per man in benefits.

ONE INCIDENT not reported that famous week in April came early on the morning of the 11th, after Mr. Labor himself, George Meany, had issued a statement praising the President's lightning action against the U.S. Steel Corp.

President Kennedy personally lifted the phone and called Meany. Saying hello, he soon added, "Have you ever seen so many —s?" Terse and blunt-speaking Meany replied, "Yes." The President roared with laughter. No one knows what his reaction will be to the coming steel crisis. He will be on the spot. If the President does make similar calls seven months from today, it is not clear now whom he will have in mind.

Much depends on the statesmanship of silver-haired, pipe-smoking steel union president, David McDonald. He too has a critical decision to make. Few realize it, but the United Steelworkers of America, under the contract signed last spring, has the right to reopen the pact by giving 90 days' notice after May 1, '63. After Aug. 1 the union can strike the national steel industry.

Under that pact, nursed by Mr. Goldberg, the union can ask for higher wages, bigger pensions, larger insurance benefits. Also a number of items coming under the jurisdiction of the joint labor-management Human Relations Committee.

THESE ITEMS include the right of the steel firms to contract out some construction work instead of having the steel company employes do it themselves. Also whether some foreman can do actual production work in the plants.

There were influential delegates at the steel union Miami convention who insisted that the union put forward a hefty set of demands. The talk centered around the chances of winning another 10 cent-an-hour package.

Industry spokesmen say they can't go for another such package, or anywhere near it. They say that last April's agreement increased the cost of a steelworker from $4.12 an hour to $4.30. They add that another dime an hour would cost them another $140 million a year, thus cutting the total industry's profit from $690 million annually to some $400 million annually in a two-year period.

IN PITTSBURGH the other day, E. Heath Larry, a U.S. Steel vice president, said bluntly that the time has come for unions not to consider it a sacrifice to ask for nothing additional at contract time. There are union leaders who say that the companies are able to give. But it is positive that the firms won't without a struggle or renewed pressure from the President himself.

In view of the White House sensitivity over charges of being anti-business, it is not likely at this minute anyway that lightning will strike twice.

At the moment the President and his professorial, cautious secretary of labor, William Willard Wirtz are not repeating history. A year ago, with the steel contract still some nine months to run, President Kennedy dispatched his famous letters, now forgotten. However, he has not done so this time.

This may mean a change in approach, now that Mr. Goldberg has gone to higher places. Mr. Wirtz does not believe in moving the government in as swiftly as did Mr. Goldberg, nor in lifting the phone to labor leaders and saying, "The President asked me to . . ."

WIRTZ BELIEVES in less personal diplomacy and more hard bargainng and more adherence to the absolute letter of the labor law.

There is a dramatic example on the waterfront. For weeks now it has appeared that a longshoremen's strike of 90,000 men in all ports from upper Maine to lower Texas has been inevitable. Dealers in perishables have been warned by their association to get their produce across the seas and out of the ship holds.

However, this time there has not been the personal intervention, nor the informal White House telephoning. The theory now is to let it go all the way through the formal federal mediation services — and then let the President crack down with an injunction if the national welfare is actually threatened.

It may work better than the previous, more daring tactics. It may not. But there is a change in the air. Steel will tell.

Time To Stand Firm

Foreign Aid Bill Opposition Mounts

It should not be difficult now for President Kennedy to understand why there's so much opposition in Congress to the foreign aid bill.

David Lawrence

Maybe it will be easier for the British government to understand a demand that may come someday from the American people that American troops and also financial aid be withdrawn from Europe.

For no less a person than the member of the British Cabinet who heads up the treasury department in London has just told an American audience on television that Cuba is "essentially an American problem," and hence Britain couldn't pledge support for an economic blockade. The foreign minister of Norway also told Secretary of State Rusk that Cuba is "an American problem."

Supposing the United States had said to the world that Vietnam was "essentially an Asian problem"? Supposing that President Eisenhower, instead of landing Marines in Lebanon, had said the Soviet aggression in that area was "essentially a Middle East problem"?

Supposing President Kennedy had said in recent months that the fate of Berlin was "essentially a European problem"?

What would have been the reaction then in London and in other European capitals?

Cuba is not "an American problem." It is a world problem because Soviet aggression recognizes no geographical limits. The military and economic sinews of Castro's government are being provided today by the Soviet Union.

The United States rightly seeks to impose an economic blockade on Cuba. Secretary Rusk is meeting with foreign ministers of various countries this week to persuade them to help by requiring their ships not to carry cargoes to Cuba. Even Canada — our next-door neighbor — has been hesitating to go along.

NATURALLY, the businessmen in these countries are opposed to any embargo on trade with Cuba. Will material interests and selfishness, however, prevail against a policy of checkmating the Soviet Union's aggression? Failure of the Western countries to work together in the 1930s caused the collapse of the economic blockade against Mussolini imposed by the League of Nations.

World War II came as a result of the Nazi belief in the apparent disunity on our side.

It is already being argued by some governments that their ships are under long-term charter and can't be persuaded to withhold their transportation facilities but, in a matter of preserving the peace of the world, the larger interest should, of course, prevail.

If it doesn't, will not public opinion in the United States tend to be less concerned about threats by the Soviet Union to European countries?

The whole future of foreign aid, moreover, will be dealt a body blow if the principal nations of the world continue to evade their own obligation to help carry the financial burden of America's troops in Europe and in other countries.

THE TAXPAYERS of the United States will not long support such a one-sided arrangement. Rep. Otto Passman, D-La, who has led the fight against the foreign aid bill and succeeded in lopping off a sizable amount from it in the House at this session, will gain many more supporters next year if the European governments ignore Soviet military aggression in this hemisphere and continue to insist that the United States should pay most of the cost of its military forces assembled to check Soviet aggression in Europe, Asia and Africa.

Also, the United States government has just dramatically come to the rescue of the United Nations by voting a $100 million purchase of bonds to pay the expenses of the U.N. armies in Africa. The President of the United States didn't say that the Congo mess was "essentially an African problem."

Maybe the charitable explanation of all this is that neither the newspapers of Europe nor the American ambassadors there have conveyed the whole story of how the people of this country really feel about the Soviet infiltration and military buildup in Cuba.

One reason for this may be because President Kennedy and Secretary of State Rusk have maintained a mistaken policy of silence. They haven't said a word publicly to the government of the Soviet Union to protest what it has done in Cuba.

THE REPORTED explanation is that Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Rusk have insisted that to do so would "increase tensions" over Berlin. But tensions have increased now not only over Berlin but over Cuba.

The West gives the impression of timidity if not of fear to notify the Soviet Union that it has deliberately interfered in the Western Hemisphere and has assisted a dictatorship to continue to deprive the Cuban people of their sovereign rights.

A real opportunity has been missed by the Kennedy administration to make it clear everywhere that what has happened in Cuba in the last two years is a world problem, and that the aggression by the Soviets must be checked by the free world.

For this is no time for neutralism either by the smaller countries or by the larger nations that regularly receive financial or economic or military aid from the taxpayers of the United States.

Politics In Iran

Effect Seen In Quake Aftermath

TEHERAN

The victims of the Iranian earthquake on Sept. 1, in which more than a hundred villages were devastated and more than 2,500 people lost their lives, have also become the victims of politics to some extent.

The greatest problem in the area around Bouin and Danisfahan is to get the badly shocked survivors to cooperate with the relief teams in erecting new villages.

Much of the apathy of the peasants stems from a deep-rooted Muslim fatalism which makes them regard the disaster as a punishment by God. Some landowners are reported to encourage this by telling the villagers that the earthquake was God's way of punishing the government for introducing its land reform system, under which the landlords would lose most of their holdings.

There has also been an almost total boycott of the Red Lion and Sun Society, Persia's Red Cross, because the Society is generally distrusted.

It has been claimed that on past occasions blankets and clothing donated to the society for relief during national disasters never reached the victims. One man alleged he had seen blankets donated for the victims of the Lar earthquake two years ago on sale in the local bazaar.

The boycott of the Red Lion and Sun, which is headed by a number of prominent people in the capital, was immediate. Local donors of food and clothing preferred to transport them to the quake area themselves or have them taken by private means.

During a weekend exodus from Tehran of private cars loaded with supplies, the vehicles were stopped on the road by officials who asked the owners to hand over the goods to the authorized distributing agency, the society. The donors refused, saying they would rather not donate at all. In the end they were allowed to proceed.

In Qazvin, the town nearest the quake zone, members of the National Front, Dr. Moussadek's old party, distributed leaflets calling for a full boycott of the Lion and Sun, and later in the week the society's premises in the town were set on fire.

The Shah has ordered the setting up of a committee of theologians, respected merchants and engineers to supervise the expenditure of all financial aid received by the Society, much of which has come from abroad. The public's lack of confidence in the agency has deeply disturbed the government.

Politics have also touched on the dispatch of aid from abroad. An early offer of medical teams by West Germany was turned down by Iran on the grounds that they were not needed, there being a sufficiency of doctors and nurses in the earthquake zone by this time. German correspondents claim, however, that Iran feared Russian repercussions if West German relief teams, military and otherwise, were allowed into the country.

Ex-Dayton Aide's Babysitter Located After Long Absence

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—If Dayton police are impatiently tapping their feet in the case of former city commissioner David F. Pottinger, officers in suburban Kettering are figuratively stamping their feet today in the case of his children's babysitter.

Kettering Police Chief John Shyrock called Mrs. Sylvian VanderWiel Wednesday night to inform her that her daughter, Sherryl, 17, at last had been located after nearly two months' absence. She was staying with an Alexandria, Va., family, "well and happy."

To Shyrock's "shock," as he put it, Mrs. VanderWiel revealed she already knew Sherryl's whereabout, and what's more had given her permission for the girl to stay with the Elvon D. Sewell family in Alexandria, near Washington, D.C.

The Vanderwiel girl dropped from sight about 36 hours after Pottinger, 26, vanished Aug. 1. He was found, bedraggled, in a ditch near Knoxville, Tenn., Sept 17, and professed he had no memory of anything since the night he disappeared. Told of Sherryl's disappearance, Pottinger expressed surprise she was missing and ignorance of her whereabouts.

Dayton police, who want to question Pottinger about the alleged robbery-beating by three men that he said was the last thing he remembered, have been waiting more than a week since his wife went to Knoxville and brought him home. He has been in a hospital, reportedly to undergo brain tests, and his doctors have advised police not to interview him for the time being.

The only previous word of Miss VanderWiel came from her family just after it was learned Pottinger had been found. At that time, they said Sherryl was at some unknown address in New York City.

So Kettering police continued their search, and finally got a tip Wednesday that she was in Alexandria. A pickup order was issued but she was released when Virginia authorities were presented a letter from her mother saying Sherryl had permission to be with the Sewells.

1,400 Strikers At RCA Facility Slated To Return

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—Fourteen hundred workers at the Radio Corp. of America plant here were expected back on the job today, ending a two-day unauthorized walkout. But plant and union officials were waiting to see if the employes would return.

B. G. Williamson, international representative for the union, said after meeting with RCA officials Wednesday that he felt matters in dispute had been set aright sufficiently to end the strike and that he assumed everyone would report at their regular times today.

The meeting between management and officers of Local 1850, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL - CIO), brought arrangements for better processing of grievances, Williamson said.

The union, while trying to stop the strike itself, had claimed the workers were disgruntled because they felt management was giving the brushoff to their grievances and other problems. Williamson said RCA agreed Wednesday to meet with the union two days a week on grievance matters and one day a week on other problems.

1 Killed, 3 Injured In 2-Car Collision

BRYAN, Ohio (AP) — Alvin Cunningham, 58, of Bryan was killed and three passengers in his auto were injured in a collision with another vehicle Wednesday, the highway patrol reported.

The patrol said the other driver, Joseph Becker, 34, of Albert Lea, Minn., also was injured in the crash on U.S. 6 at a side road intersection two miles south of here.

The other injured, taken to Cameron Memorial Hospital here, are Gene Gearhart, 35, of Edon (Williams County) and Harold Slee, 41, of Liberty Center (Henry County).

Wife Also Among Survivors

Air Force Major Tells Of Plane Ditching At Sea

Maj. Carl R. Elander, USAF, of West Point, N.Y., and his wife were among the 48 survivors of the Flying Tiger airliner crash in the North Atlantic Sunday that took 28 lives. The Elanders were picked up by the Swiss freighter Celerina and then transferred to the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure. This is Elander's story of the crash-landing as relayed from the Bonaventure at sea.

By MAJ. CARL R. ELANDER

Aboard Her Majesty's Canadian Ship Bonaventure (AP)—Our first intimation that there was anything amiss occurred when we were given a second more thorough ditching drill. This time all passengers put on life jackets and removed shoes, socks, jewelry and pins.

Although we knew a ditch was about to happen an air of quiet calm prevailed. As the aircraft started its descent we put our heads between our knees and held on. The cabin lights went out and in the darkness could be heard only a high whine as we went lower and lower. These last few minutes were terrible.

We had been briefed to expect three impacts but there was only one big crash. Our seats on the port side were thrown forward bodily. My wife received a blow on the head, and my leg was trapped.

The cabin must have started filling fast for I could feel water around my feet as I struggled to get clear. I saw my wife climbing out through the escape hatch and I figure about six or seven others followed her out before my turn came. Water was coming in through the hatch.

By the time I finally left I had no idea of where my wife was. But seeing something floating in the water with people round it I made my way over and held on. The person next to me was my wife. My arm was hurt and my wife had dislocated her shoulder.

We found ourselves at the center of the raft, where the fabric bottom sags the most. More people came on board, and more and more water slopped over the side. When everyone we could see was in, I found myself with my left arm crooked about my wife's head, just able to keep her mouth and nose above water.

We were in this position for about six hours until taken aboard the Celerina. A flashlight was found but it was decided to use it only for signaling. Some hymns were sung and an attempt was made to bail out the raft but this proved ineffective.

I remember watching the plane's tail slide straight down below the surface. I remember seeing an aircraft circling overhead and I remember a yellowish light in the darkness which proved to be the Celerina.

Our recollections of the ship are fleeting. Bright lights, ropes, and a dangling Jacob's ladder. Finally, blessed sleep in a warm bunk.

Congress Seen Reluctant To Divulge Travel Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress, which criticizes executive agencies for withholding information from the public, often is much less than frank about its own activities.

This is particularly true of official travel, or junketing or other expenses of the members.

The practice is more prevalent in the Senate than in the House. It is almost impossible to find out how much money a senator spends. Unlike the Senate, the House makes available at all times the staff payrolls of its members, including the names of individuals and their salaries.

The House also publishes annually a statement of foreign travel spending by its members and committees, but the document lacks details and is long outdated when made available.

Executive agencies sometimes invoke "executive privilege" in withholding information, a practice criticized by a special House committee on government information. President Kennedy has taken the position that this privilege may be invoked by agencies only if he authorizes it.

Although Congress has erected few, if any, direct roadblocks in the path of the public's right to know what's going on the problem is one of getting access to congressional documents. They are a matter of record somewhere.

Frustrations, difficulties and delays often plague newsmen trying to find out what's going on in the way of congressional junketing or the expenditure of public funds. The information may no longer be news when finally obtained.

For example, the law requires an annual accounting by all congressional committees and legislators on expenses incurred while traveling on official business, either inside or outside the United States.

But the accounting does not have to be made and published until after the first 60 days of each calendar year. By that time the information can be a year old.

Even then it seldom is complete. Spending is listed under general headings—travel, lodging, meals and miscellaneous. Supporting vouchers explaining the details are not available.

17 Attend Workshop Of County Nurse Unit

LISBON — Sixteen members and a guest attended a workshop for Columbiana County school and public health nurses Wednesday in the health department offices in the Courthouse.

Miss Trudi Bernstein, hearing and vision consultant for the State Health Department's Northeast Ohio District, was guest speaker.

Miss Bernstein will speak again Oct. 17 at an all-day meeting of the group, according to Mrs. Violet Peterson, county public health nurse.

Ex-Teamster Head Faces Trial Monday

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Dave Beck Sr., former Teamsters Union president, started for New York City for trial on charges of violating the Taft-Hartley Act, but his trek was tripped up Wednesday.

He apparently was feeling fit when he left McNeil Island Federal Penitentiary near Tacoma, but by the time he was booked in county jail here he was limping. Beck said he sprained an ankle when he slipped on stairs at the prison.

As he left McNeil, where he has served three months of a five-year sentence for tax fraud, the 68-year-old Beck said he never felt better. "I'm getting lots of exercise and a little bit of rest," he said.

At Seattle, a physician placed him in the jail hospital for the night. The doctor said Beck could be moved any time officials wished.

Beck is to appear Monday in U.S. District Court in New York. The government contends he received an illegal payment of $200,000 from two trucking company officials and three corporations while he was a representative of their employes, in violation of a 1959 amendment to the Taft-Hartley Act.

Patrol Seeks Driver Of Abandoned Auto

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon today was seeking the driver of a car found over an embankment of Route 7 at Williamsport about 8 a. m.

The auto went off the highway on the downhill curve just north of the Beaver Local Public School. Officers summoned to the site said the driver apparently left the scene.

Wife Also Among Survivors

Air Force Major Tells Of Plane Ditching At Sea

Maj. Carl R. Elander, USAF, of West Point, N.Y., and his wife were among the 48 survivors of the Flying Tiger airliner crash in the North Atlantic Sunday that took 28 lives. The Elanders were picked up by the Swiss freighter Celerina and then transferred to the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure. This is Elander's story of the crash-landing as relayed from the Bonaventure at sea.

By MAJ. CARL R. ELANDER

Aboard Her Majesty's Canadian Ship Bonaventure (AP)—Our first intimation that there was anything amiss occurred when we were given a second more thorough ditching drill. This time all passengers put on life jackets and removed shoes, socks, jewelry and pins.

Although we knew a ditch was about to happen an air of quiet calm prevailed. As the aircraft started its descent we put our heads between our knees and held on. The cabin lights went out and in the darkness could be heard only a high whine as we went lower and lower. These last few minutes were terrible.

We had been briefed to expect three impacts but there was only one big crash. Our seats on the port side were thrown forward bodily. My wife received a blow on the head, and my leg was trapped.

The cabin must have started filling fast for I could feel water around my feet as I struggled to get clear. I saw my wife climbing out through the escape hatch and I figure about six or seven others followed her out before my turn came. Water was coming in through the hatch.

By the time I finally left I had no idea of where my wife was. But seeing something floating in the water with people round it I made my way over and held on. The person next to me was my wife. My arm was hurt and my wife had dislocated her shoulder.

Ribbons for work achievements during the past year were distributed at a meeting of the Calcutta Golden Girls Club Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Margaret Jacobs.

The group discussed plans for participating in a melodrama for a Grange play in the near future.

Beginning with the meeting, Oct. 8 a series of questions-and-answers on the topic, "Teen-age Talk Over," will be featured.

The meeting ended with a party honoring Mary Alice Graebing, who is leaving Friday for a few months stay at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh. She was presented gifts.

Ronald Bender was elected president; Tom Arehart, vice president; Sylvia Porter, secretary; Bill Arehart, treasurer, and David Lowther, reporter.

Thirteen attended, and the club is seeking additional members. A trail ride is planned in mid-October.

Managing Editors Hear AP Man

Newsman Says Algeria Will Not Go Communist

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Algeria will not go Communist, largely because of the wave of Arab nationalism in North Africa, Richard K. O'Malley told the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

"I don't think the Communists will ever get a great foothold in North Africa," O'Malley, chief of The Associated Press bureau in Paris, said Wednesday. "The Reds have done badly there, and elsewhere in the Arab world. And they also have not fared well in Iraq."

O'Malley, who directs the AP coverage in North Africa, said he feels the United States was "very astute to recognize an independent Algeria, but not to recognize a government there."

"Which way Algeria will go remains to be seen," he said. "I don't think we have a problem of East vs. West in Algeria and I don't think there is anything we can do now. We must wait and see what happens."

North Africans, he said, have a concept called "Maghreb," of merging Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco. "I don't know if they will ever join, but if they do it could be a force for good or evil for us. These new nations will have a lot to say in the East-West struggle."

The editors Wednesday also heard a panel discussion of "Research and New Trends" in journalism. Appearing on the panel were Arville Schaleben of the Milwaukee Journal, Sidney Goldish of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, James Bellows of the New York Herald Tribune and Penn Kimball of Columbia University.

Schaleben urged establishment of a research information center for collecting and processing research data and said newspapers may benefit directly from such a center.

"What determines how effective you are," Schaleben said, "is how long the reader spends with your paper. He is going to spend more time with you only if you present needed news compellingly."

Today, the editors spent the morning attending a science and medical seminar at the University of Minnesota.

The science program was divided into two phases, one dealing with medical research into heart surgery and kidney transplants and the other gamma ray astronomy.

Dr. Richard A. Dewall, newly appointed head of the University of Chicago Medical School's surgery department and co-developer of the bubble oxygenator for open heart surgery, narrated a film on open heart surgery.

Dr. Robert A. Good, professor of pediatrics, and Dr. James C. Pierce, specialist in surgery, both of the University of Minnesota, described research work on the transplantation of kidneys. This phase included a film showing a kidney transplant on a dog.

Dr. Cyrus P. Barnum Jr., professor of physiological chemistry, completed the medical research discussion by outlining the problems of nucleic acid and its relation to successful transplanting and open heart surgery.

Dr. John R. Winckler, professor of physics and one of the world's outstanding space physicists, explained the means by which gamma rays are used in the field of astronomy.

Goes Before Parliament

Canada's Prime Minister Faces Economic Troubles

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker goes before the 25th Parliament of Canada in its opening session today beset with towering economic troubles and facing demands for a motion of no confidence in his minority government.

However, two small opposition parties, holding the balance of power, appeared disposed to give him a temporary political reprieve.

Relations with the United States, an $18-billion American investment in Canada, and questions connected with the European Common Market all figured in the presession exchanges of fire.

The call for a motion of no confidence — which would destroy Diefenbaker's regime if passed—came from Lester B. Pearson, leader of the Liberals, the largest opposition party.

He said he would offer the motion in his first speech to determine whether Diefenbaker's Conservatives have the support of the majority in the House of Commons.

The smaller opposition groups, the Social Credit and New Democratic parties, indicated they would not go along with Pearson.

Pearson's drive to unseat the government thus appeared doomed by the mathematics of the lineup in Parliament.

Diefenbaker's party holds 116 seats. The three opposition groups have 148, comprised of 100 Liberals, 30 Social Credit, and 18 New Democrats.

To carry a motion of no confidence, a majority of 133 votes is necessary. If the 48 small-party votes go with the government's 116, the motion fails.

Canadian political analysts said tight party discipline is likely to insure bloc voting, without dissenters, in all four groups.

2 Evening Class Set For Midland School

Two evening classes, typing and sewing, will begin Monday at Midland Lincoln High School with about 50 enrolled, the office of Principal William A. Walters said.

Classes will be held Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p. m. The typing class is mixed, including beginning and advanced.

Walters is director for the classes and Mrs. Helen Hineman secretary.

Registration for the classes was held Monday and Tuesday.

Alliance Paper Plans To Publish Despite Strike

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — The Alliance Review planned to continue publishing today despite a strike by 19 composing room employes, mostly typesetters.

A spokesman for the 79-year-old afternoon daily said no meetings are scheduled between management and members of Local 497 of the International Typographical Union.

They walked out Wednesday in a dispute over hours, wages and fringe benefits in part of a contract that expired in March. The typesetters, who now average $3 an hour, have set up a picket line.

The union rejected a company offer to continue the present contract for another year, or provide increases amounting to 7½ cents an hour to be used by the union for wages or fringe benefits during a three-year agreement.

Full-width grille, bumpers, hood, windshield, sculptured side panels and rear deck contours enhance the sleek new look. For added distinction the Impala Sport Coupe is available with an optional vinyl top that further contributes to its convertible look.

The major innovation in the new line of Chevrolets is the addition of a second model Corvette — an exciting "fast-back" sport coupe for customers desiring closed car comfort with sports car appeal.

Goes Before Parliament

Canada's Prime Minister Faces Economic Troubles

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker goes before the 25th Parliament of Canada in its opening session today beset with towering economic troubles and facing demands for a motion of no confidence in his minority government.

However, two small opposition parties, holding the balance of power, appeared disposed to give him a temporary political reprieve.

Relations with the United States, an $18-billion American investment in Canada, and questions connected with the European Common Market all figured in the presession exchanges of fire.

The call for a motion of no confidence — which would destroy Diefenbaker's regime if passed—came from Lester B. Pearson, leader of the Liberals, the largest opposition party.

He said he would offer the motion in his first speech to determine whether Diefenbaker's Conservatives have the support of the majority in the House of Commons.

The smaller opposition groups, the Social Credit and New Democratic parties, indicated they would not go along with Pearson.

Pearson's drive to unseat the government thus appeared doomed by the mathematics of the lineup in Parliament.

Diefenbaker's party holds 116 seats. The three opposition groups have 148, comprised of 100 Liberals, 30 Social Credit, and 18 New Democrats.

To carry a motion of no confidence, a majority of 133 votes is necessary. If the 48 small-party votes go with the government's 116, the motion fails.

Canadian political analysts said tight party discipline is likely to insure bloc voting, without dissenters, in all four groups.

Alliance Paper Plans To Publish Despite Strike

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — The Alliance Review planned to continue publishing today despite a strike by 19 composing room employes, mostly typesetters.

A spokesman for the 79-year-old afternoon daily said no meetings are scheduled between management and members of Local 497 of the International Typographical Union.

They walked out Wednesday in a dispute over hours, wages and fringe benefits in part of a contract that expired in March. The typesetters, who now average $3 an hour, have set up a picket line.

The union rejected a company offer to continue the present contract for another year, or provide increases amounting to 7½ cents an hour to be used by the union for wages or fringe benefits during a three-year agreement.

Managing Editors Hear AP Man

Newsman Says Algeria Will Not Go Communist

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Algeria will not go Communist, largely because of the wave of Arab nationalism in North Africa, Richard K. O'Malley told the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

"I don't think the Communists will ever get a great foothold in North Africa," O'Malley, chief of The Associated Press bureau in Paris, said Wednesday. "The Reds have done badly there, and elsewhere in the Arab world. And they also have not fared well in Iraq."

O'Malley, who directs the AP coverage in North Africa, said he feels the United States was "very astute to recognize an independent Algeria, but not to recognize a government there."

"Which way Algeria will go remains to be seen," he said. "I don't think we have a problem of East vs. West in Algeria and I don't think there is anything we can do now. We must wait and see what happens."

North Africans, he said, have a concept called "Maghreb," of merging Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco. "I don't know if they will ever join, but if they do it could be a force for good or evil for us. These new nations will have a lot to say in the East-West struggle."

The editors Wednesday also heard a panel discussion of "Research and New Trends" in journalism. Appearing on the panel were Arville Schaleben of the Milwaukee Journal, Sidney Goldish of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, James Bellows of the New York Herald Tribune and Penn Kimball of Columbia University.

Schaleben urged establishment of a research information center for collecting and processing research data and said newspapers may benefit directly from such a center.

"What determines how effective you are," Schaleben said, "is how long the reader spends with your paper. He is going to spend more time with you only if you present needed news compellingly."

Today, the editors spent the morning attending a science and medical seminar at the University of Minnesota.

The science program was divided into two phases, one dealing with medical research into heart surgery and kidney transplants and the other gamma ray astronomy.

Dr. Richard A. Dewall, newly appointed head of the University of Chicago Medical School's surgery department and co-developer of the bubble oxygenator for open heart surgery, narrated a film on open heart surgery.

Dr. Robert A. Good, professor of pediatrics, and Dr. James C. Pierce, specialist in surgery, both of the University of Minnesota, described research work on the transplantation of kidneys. This phase included a film showing a kidney transplant on a dog.

Dr. Cyrus P. Barnum Jr., professor of physiological chemistry, completed the medical research discussion by outlining the problems of nucleic acid and its relation to successful transplanting and open heart surgery.

Dr. John R. Winckler, professor of physics and one of the world's outstanding space physicists, explained the means by which gamma rays are used in the field of astronomy.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl, 16, and a sophomore in high school. Right now I am plenty disgusted and fed up with all the high-sounding slogans about respectability's paying off. There's a big dance in two weeks and I haven't been asked, and neither has my best girl friend. We are both anti-makeouts.

The two trampiest girls in our class have already turned down a half dozen dates. Some of the fellows who asked them are boys we'd love to go with. I know what will happen. My girl friend and I will be asked two days before the dance by fellows who have been turned down by at least three tramps.

I've heard it said that the girls who play it fast and loose in their teens never make it to the altar, but from what I can see they live a mighty full life in high school. How about this? — FOURTH CHOICE.

Dear Choice: Would you be a tramp if you were assured of an invitation to every school dance? Of course not, so quit crying.

The promiscuous girls live a "full" life all right — full of anxiety, insecurity and worry. They may seem carefree and gay, but if you could look inside their heads and see what goes on you wouldn't trade places with them for five minutes.

Moody Benedict

Dear Ann: I hope you can help me with a problem that has been bothering me for a long time.

Carl, the fellow I am engaged to marry, is very moody. I never know quite what to expect from him. My boss never had met Carl, so last week he invited us to lunch at a lovely downtown restaurant.

Carl showed up late — wearing Bermudas, a sport shirt and boating shoes. He had been sailing. When my boss saw him he had a difficult time concealing his surprise. As for me, I almost died of embarrassment.

It was not the first time Carl has pulled something like this but it was the worst boner yet. I love him too much to break our engagement. Please help me. — SEMPER FIDELIS.

Dear Semper: "Caveat Emptor!" If you marry Carl you're going to need more help than I can give you. Your fiance is not only moody, but he is immature, insecure and punishing.

Showing up in shorts and sneakers for a luncheon date would be considered abominable taste under any circumstances (he would be barred from some restaurants).

A young man who would do this to his girl is letting his enormous hostility show.

Profane Guest

Dear Ann: A few weeks ago a relative had dinner at our home. She happens to have more money than the rest of the family put together, but, as is often the case, the richest relatives are the stingiest.

Our cat, Tabby, usually roams around under the table during dinner and nobody thinks a thing of it. This particular evening Tabby was under the table and this relative suddenly let loose with quite a stream of profanity. Tabby had torn her stocking.

She said something nasty about how people ought to keep their animals caged up when company is present. I'm not at all sure she didn't have a run in her stocking when she arrived. The last thing she said was, "You'll get a bill for a new pair of hose."

This morning a bill for $2.05 arrived in the mail. Do you think we ought to pay it?—MIFFED.

-:-

Dear Miffed: It's pretty cheap of a guest to send a hostess a bill for a pair of stockings but since she sent it, be a lady (which she was not) and pay it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl, 16, and a sophomore in high school. Right now I am plenty disgusted and fed up with all the high-sounding slogans about respectability's paying off. There's a big dance in two weeks and I haven't been asked, and neither has my best girl friend. We are both anti-makeouts.

The two trampiest girls in our class have already turned down a half dozen dates. Some of the fellows who asked them are boys we'd love to go with. I know what will happen. My girl friend and I will be asked two days before the dance by fellows who have been turned down by at least three tramps.

I've heard it said that the girls who play it fast and loose in their teens never make it to the altar, but from what I can see they live a mighty full life in high school. How about this? — FOURTH CHOICE.

Dear Choice: Would you be a tramp if you were assured of an invitation to every school dance? Of course not, so quit crying.

The promiscuous girls live a "full" life all right — full of anxiety, insecurity and worry. They may seem carefree and gay, but if you could look inside their heads and see what goes on you wouldn't trade places with them for five minutes.

Moody Benedict

Dear Ann: I hope you can help me with a problem that has been bothering me for a long time.

Carl, the fellow I am engaged to marry, is very moody. I never know quite what to expect from him. My boss never had met Carl, so last week he invited us to lunch at a lovely downtown restaurant.

Carl showed up late — wearing Bermudas, a sport shirt and boating shoes. He had been sailing. When my boss saw him he had a difficult time concealing his surprise. As for me, I almost died of embarrassment.

It was not the first time Carl has pulled something like this but it was the worst boner yet. I love him too much to break our engagement. Please help me. — SEMPER FIDELIS.

-:-

Dear Semper: "Caveat Emptor!" If you marry Carl you're going to need more help than I can give you. Your fiance is not only moody, but he is immature, insecure and punishing.

Showing up in shorts and sneakers for a luncheon date would be considered abominable taste under any circumstances (he would be barred from some restaurants).

A young man who would do this to his girl is letting his enormous hostility show.

Profane Guest

Dear Ann: A few weeks ago a relative had dinner at our home. She happens to have more money than the rest of the family put together, but, as is often the case, the richest relatives are the stingiest.

Our cat, Tabby, usually roams around under the table during dinner and nobody thinks a thing of it. This particular evening Tabby was under the table and this relative suddenly let loose with quite a stream of profanity. Tabby had torn her stocking.

She said something nasty about how people ought to keep their animals caged up when company is present. I'm not at all sure she didn't have a run in her stocking when she arrived. The last thing she said was, "You'll get a bill for a new pair of hose."

This morning a bill for $2.05 arrived in the mail. Do you think we ought to pay it?—MIFFED.

-:-

Dear Miffed: It's pretty cheap of a guest to send a hostess a bill for a pair of stockings but since she sent it, be a lady (which she was not) and pay it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Palestine Names Miss Herriott To Levy Committee

EAST PALESTINE — Miss Alice Herriott, 450 E. Clark St., was named chairman of a citizens committee to promote two proposed school levies at a general meeting attended by 50 Wednesday night at the school.

Miss Herriott will name vice chairmen later.

Others selected were George McKinstry, secretary, and Paul E. Lange, treasurer. Standing committees will be picked later.

Plans were discussed for a house-to-house campaign prior to the Nov. 6 election on the proposed renewal of a 3-mill levy and a new 5-mill levy.

Board members spoke on the levies and pointed out the anticipated valuation of the school district — now $14 million — will be increased to $16 million under the recently completely revaluation.

This would mean the proposed 5-mill levy would actually be set at 4.4 mills by the Budget Commission in order to bring in the same amount of revenue as it would under the present valuation, according to law.

Freedom Rider In Cleveland Jobless, Wants To Go Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Mamie Underwood, sent here on a reverse freedom ride along with 10 children and a grandchild last July, wants to go back to Centreville, Ala.

The woman is jobless and almost without funds. She couldn't get regular relief help because she has not been a resident of Cuyahoga County for one year.

In a statement Wednesday night Mrs. Underwood said she doesn't want to be a burden to Cleveland and that life here is hard on her family.

"My kids are not happy here," she said. "My kids are used to running and playing out of doors. My kids are more sick up here than they were in the South. My kids are not used to being in two rooms. My kids don't like to be in the house all the time."

Mrs. Underwood has kept the children inside at their East Side apartment because of rats in the back yard. They have lived since July 3 in a rent-free, converted attic.

Friends have asked for contributions to help finance a bus trip back to Centreville. John J. Schaffer, county welfare director, indicated his department probably would provide bue fare if Mrs. Underwood should ask.

But he said the county wouldn't send the family back to Alabama unless welfare authorities there agree. "We have sort of a gentlemen's agreement between welfare departments in such cases," Schaffer said.

The Bibb County Citizens Council paid her way North in July.

Escapee Of 29 Years Ago Due In Custody Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — A state official was to take custody today of Henry Pyle, 54, who escaped from the Ohio reformatory at Mansfield 29 years ago and had settled down here under an assumed home.

Under the alias John Sargent, Pyle worked as a mechanic after his escape in 1933, later owned a used car business, married and became the father of two children.

During World War II he registered and was called by his draft board under the name Sargent, his mother's maiden name, but a perforated eardrum kept him out of service.

Since separating from his wife three years ago, he had been living at the East Side garage where he worked as a mechanic.

Wednesday, two detectives went to the garage, acting on an anonymous tip, and drew from the fugitive an admission of his real identity.

Pyle said he went to the reformatory after an auto theft conviction in 1928. Sentenced to a 1-20-year term, he was paroled in 1929 but returned the following year as a parole violator. He climbed a fence and escaped after learning that another parole request had been denied.

Mrs. Rhoda Leyda reported on teen - age dances sponsored by the club Saturday nights at MacDonald School. A total of 225 attended last week. Volunteers are needed as chaperones, she reported.

The club has purchased a hot water tank and hot plate for the new concession stand at the stadium.

Other members of the campaign steering committee are Eli Corak, Beaver County commissioner and Midland mayor, chapter fair - share plan chairman; Glenn Roberts, public relations chairman, and James H. Muns and John Gill, solicitor training co-chairmen.

The United Fund campaign in the Midland area as well as throughout Beaver County is to support 42 voluntary health, welfare and character building agencies in 1963.

In announcing the kickoff meeting, Trbovich said, "We in the Midland area have a responsibility to raise a minimum goal of $45,471. This task can only be accomplished if each individual, living or employed in the Midland area, pledges his fair share to this fall's campaign."

Following a series of weekly report meetings on campaign progress, the Midland area drive will conclude the last week of October.

Freedom Rider In Cleveland Jobless, Wants To Go Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Mamie Underwood, sent here on a reverse freedom ride along with 10 children and a grandchild last July, wants to go back to Centreville, Ala.

The woman is jobless and almost without funds. She couldn't get regular relief help because she has not been a resident of Cuyahoga County for one year.

In a statement Wednesday night Mrs. Underwood said she doesn't want to be a burden to Cleveland and that life here is hard on her family.

"My kids are not happy here," she said. "My kids are used to running and playing out of doors. My kids are more sick up here than they were in the South. My kids are not used to being in two rooms. My kids don't like to be in the house all the time."

Mrs. Underwood has kept the children inside at their East Side apartment because of rats in the back yard. They have lived since July 3 in a rent-free, converted attic.

Friends have asked for contributions to help finance a bus trip back to Centreville. John J. Schaffer, county welfare director, indicated his department probably would provide bue fare if Mrs. Underwood should ask.

But he said the county wouldn't send the family back to Alabama unless welfare authorities there agree. "We have sort of a gentlemen's agreement between welfare departments in such cases," Schaffer said.

The Bibb County Citizens Council paid her way North in July.

Escapee Of 29 Years Ago Due In Custody Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — A state official was to take custody today of Henry Pyle, 54, who escaped from the Ohio reformatory at Mansfield 29 years ago and had settled down here under an assumed home.

Under the alias John Sargent, Pyle worked as a mechanic after his escape in 1933, later owned a used car business, married and became the father of two children.

During World War II he registered and was called by his draft board under the name Sargent, his mother's maiden name, but a perforated eardrum kept him out of service.

Since separating from his wife three years ago, he had been living at the East Side garage where he worked as a mechanic.

Wednesday, two detectives went to the garage, acting on an anonymous tip, and drew from the fugitive an admission of his real identity.

Pyle said he went to the reformatory after an auto theft conviction in 1928. Sentenced to a 1-20-year term, he was paroled in 1929 but returned the following year as a parole violator. He climbed a fence and escaped after learning that another parole request had been denied.

Wellsville Club To Feed Squads

Plans were approved to feed the Wellsville and Midland football squads at the concession stand at Nicholson Stadium after Friday night's game when the Wellsville Omni Booster Club met Wednesday night in the high school cafeteria.

Mrs. Rhoda Leyda reported on teen - age dances sponsored by the club Saturday nights at MacDonald School. A total of 225 attended last week. Volunteers are needed as chaperones, she reported.

The club has purchased a hot water tank and hot plate for the new concession stand at the stadium.

Charles Stone, vice president, presided. Don Lindesmith is president. Next meeting is Wednesday night.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

A 'Casual Blaster'

A few weeks ago in Hollywood, Andy Williams described his new NBC show — which makes its debut tonight (10 p.m., Channel 3)—as a "casual blaster."

Alan Gill

Coming from this barely ambulatory crooner, I could understand the casual. But the blaster? Later, in New York, I ran into a tidy little land mine named Rita Moreno, who will be Andy's guest on his second show, a week from tonight, and again toward the middle of the season, and caught his meaning.

-:-

MISS MORENO is 30 years old, only knee high to a cocktail table, has eyes like a Burmese goddess, and let's talk about her first.

"I was born in Puerto Rico and my real name is Rosita Dolores Alverio and I think Puerto Ricans are the warmest people in the world. They're jubilance head to toe.

"When I was a baby, my parents took me to New York. We lived on Amsterdam Ave. near 180th St. in Manhattan. Pretty bad.

"I always danced. When I was 5, I danced with a tiny, fiery, little old man named Paco, who was my teacher, in a Greenwich Village night club. When I was 9, I was doing the fruit-salad-on-the-head bit — my imitation of Carmen Miranda — at bar mitzvahs. And for three years I danced in a little theater in Macy's department store."

-:-

THEN CAME a stint of dubbing American movies into Spanish, some radio and night club work, a movie, a lot of movies, "West Side Story" and the Academy Award.

"I won't tell you where I keep the Oscar," she said mysteriously. "You might think it pretentious."

She wants to be a first-rate actress and, to that end has been doing theater work recently ("I Am a Camera," "Damn Yankees" "A View From the Bridge"), scoring a particular triumph in "The Miracle Worker."

For good reason, she has forgotten the names of all her movies prior to "West Side Story."

-:-

SHE LOVES conga drums; can watch the twist all night, admires the work of the Italian director Antonioni; is acting "for one, experience, two, money"; is active in the Women's Strike for Peace because she doesn't think strontium 90 "is good for people"; gets a good deal of mail from Bali, Thailand, a Mexican gentleman who admires her thighs and a Philadelphia lady who says that "God told me I am your spiritual godmother"; and wants to lie low on the Latin stuff for a while.

No Latin stuff, you hear that, Williams?

Andy Williams — and let's tear ourselves away from the creamy bon-bon of Amsterdam Ave. for the moment — hails from a place about 2,000 miles removed from Miss Moreno's birthplace. Wall Lake, Iowa, where the Williamses were the church choir, will figure prominently in "The Andy Williams Show," in a kind of Allen's Alley sequence.

-:-

HIS GUEST tonight, George Gobel, will be one of the bumpkins of Wall Lake — a town, said Williams, "that had a population of 749 when I was born. It's got 812 now."

Andy and his three brothers sang on local radio and toured the clubs with Kay Thompson for six years. Then Andy went it alone, starring on the Steve Allen "Tonight" show for a few seasons, made some hit recordings and strolled amiably through a couple of easy-to-take summer variety series in '57 and '58, and here he is, still under anesthetics, in the big network time.

-:-

WHAT'S THE SHOW like?

"I can't really talk about it. Be surprised."

Is he a nervous performer?

"Well, everybody gets excited. Some get more excited than others."

Since he has just returned from the summer show circuit in "Bye Bye Birdie," would he say he's a fair enough hoofer?

"For a singer, I dance pretty badly."

I must admit I'm looking forward to seeing the encounter when the casual meets the blasting. Things might happen.

Antiguerrilla Forces Of Army Due For Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army reportedly has won approval to boost its elite antiguerrilla Special Forces to about 15,000 men—roughly three times their present strength.

Scope of the projected increase in these tough, versatile fighters was disclosed today by Pentagon sources.

A spokesman confirmed that Defense Department chiefs had okayed an increase in ground elements of Army antiguerrilla forces. But he gave no details.

This development tended to bear out an impression that the Army has just about established preeminence in this important phase of U.S. military operations.

For months, the Air Force has sought permission to increase its "Air Commando" force from about 850 to 5,000 men and to develop special aircraft suited to fighting Communist guerrillas.

The Defense Department said this still is under study. But Air Force sources said they believed their service's request for an expanded role in counterguerrilla work in effect has been rejected.

The Special Forces have flourished since the Kennedy administration decided this country should beef up its ability to deal with Communist threats of subversion and insurgency.

The chief cold war role of the Special Forces is to train native troops to cope with and overcome Communist guerrillas trying to take over their countries.

U.S. To Sell Hawk Missiles To Israel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has agreed to sell Hawk antiaircraft missiles to Israel to strengthen its defenses against the growing military capability of neighboring Arab states equipped with arms supplied by the Soviet Union.

The deal is expected to be completed soon and the United States plans to train Israeli operators for the missiles in this country.

Officials disclosed the agreement in principle Wednesday night and described the Hawk as a purely defensive weapon which will be provided to Israel on a straight sale basis, not involving U.S. military aid.

Egypt and Syria have been building up supplies of Soviet arms, including jet bombers, during the past two years or so. Recently, U.S. officials said, Iraq obtained short range antiaircraft missiles from Moscow. Officials said this was the decisive event in Washington's decision to sell missiles to Israel.

Allied control of conquered Germany following World War II was arranged at the Potsdam Conference from July 17 to Aug. 2, 1945.

3-Day National Plowing Classic Will Open Today

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—The skies were expected to be cloudy, but the farmer will have his day in the sun here starting today.

The event is the annual National Plowing Contest along with the huge Farm-Orama exhibition that sponsors say will attract 150,000 persons to this Southwest Ohio city.

It's a three-day affair. The two phases of the national contest—contour and level-land plowing—will be conducted today and Friday.

The Ohio State contest will be held Saturday in both classes with the winners qualifying for next year's national event.

The two national winners will go to the international contest to be held later this fall.

The defending national champions and the 1961 runners-up will be among the entrants. They are Glenn M. Steward of Springport, Mich., and William A. Goetemoeller of Versailles, Ohio, in level land plowing, and Art R. Raisch of Sheffield, Iowa, and Albert Ratzloff of Avon, S.D., in the contour event.

Other contestants hail from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota.

The Farm-Orama show will have more than 80 exhibitors—farm implements, conservation displays, homemaking demonstrations and the like.

HIS GUEST tonight, George Gobel, will be one of the bumpkins of Wall Lake — a town, said Williams, "that had a population of 749 when I was born. It's got 812 now."

Andy and his three brothers sang on local radio and toured the clubs with Kay Thompson for six years. Then Andy went it alone, starring on the Steve Allen "Tonight" show for a few seasons, made some hit recordings and strolled amiably through a couple of easy-to-take summer variety series in '57 and '58, and here he is, still under anesthetics, in the big network time.

-:-

WHAT'S THE SHOW like?

"I can't really talk about it. Be surprised."

Is he a nervous performer?

"Well, everybody gets excited. Some get more excited than others."

Since he has just returned from the summer show circuit in "Bye Bye Birdie," would he say he's a fair enough hoofer?

"For a singer, I dance pretty badly."

I must admit I'm looking forward to seeing the encounter when the casual meets the blasting. Things might happen.

Antiguerrilla Forces Of Army Due For Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army reportedly has won approval to boost its elite antiguerrilla Special Forces to about 15,000 men—roughly three times their present strength.

Scope of the projected increase in these tough, versatile fighters was disclosed today by Pentagon sources.

A spokesman confirmed that Defense Department chiefs had okayed an increase in ground elements of Army antiguerrilla forces. But he gave no details.

This development tended to bear out an impression that the Army has just about established preeminence in this important phase of U.S. military operations.

For months, the Air Force has sought permission to increase its "Air Commando" force from about 850 to 5,000 men and to develop special aircraft suited to fighting Communist guerrillas.

The Defense Department said this still is under study. But Air Force sources said they believed their service's request for an expanded role in counterguerrilla work in effect has been rejected.

The Special Forces have flourished since the Kennedy administration decided this country should beef up its ability to deal with Communist threats of subversion and insurgency.

The chief cold war role of the Special Forces is to train native troops to cope with and overcome Communist guerrillas trying to take over their countries.

U.S. To Sell Hawk Missiles To Israel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has agreed to sell Hawk antiaircraft missiles to Israel to strengthen its defenses against the growing military capability of neighboring Arab states equipped with arms supplied by the Soviet Union.

The deal is expected to be completed soon and the United States plans to train Israeli operators for the missiles in this country.

Officials disclosed the agreement in principle Wednesday night and described the Hawk as a purely defensive weapon which will be provided to Israel on a straight sale basis, not involving U.S. military aid.

Egypt and Syria have been building up supplies of Soviet arms, including jet bombers, during the past two years or so. Recently, U.S. officials said, Iraq obtained short range antiaircraft missiles from Moscow. Officials said this was the decisive event in Washington's decision to sell missiles to Israel.

Allied control of conquered Germany following World War II was arranged at the Potsdam Conference from July 17 to Aug. 2, 1945.

3-Day National Plowing Classic Will Open Today

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—The skies were expected to be cloudy, but the farmer will have his day in the sun here starting today.

The event is the annual National Plowing Contest along with the huge Farm-Orama exhibition that sponsors say will attract 150,000 persons to this Southwest Ohio city.

It's a three-day affair. The two phases of the national contest—contour and level-land plowing—will be conducted today and Friday.

The Ohio State contest will be held Saturday in both classes with the winners qualifying for next year's national event.

The two national winners will go to the international contest to be held later this fall.

The defending national champions and the 1961 runners-up will be among the entrants. They are Glenn M. Steward of Springport, Mich., and William A. Goetemoeller of Versailles, Ohio, in level land plowing, and Art R. Raisch of Sheffield, Iowa, and Albert Ratzloff of Avon, S.D., in the contour event.

Other contestants hail from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota.

The Farm-Orama show will have more than 80 exhibitors—farm implements, conservation displays, homemaking demonstrations and the like.

Sound-Alike Words Create Problems

Many a child in the early grades confuses letters of the alphabet like "b" and "d". When he does so, his parent or teacher may make him practice these letters together, hoping he will distinguish them. Instead, any two letters or words easily confused should be kept apart. The child should practice one of them with the other out of his sight and hearing. Let him study "b" carefully, writing it and finding it in many words on a page, without looking for "d" in the meanwhile. With "b" well fixed in his mind, "d" may be seen or heard without confusion.

Dr. Garry Meyers

FORTUNATELY, IN most spelling lists for the early grades homonymns, like "too", "to", "two" or "pair", "pear", "pare," do not appear together. It would be very hard for a young child to keep from confusing them if they did. Also, when a child does confuse such words, we should have him study each word separately.

It is doubtful whether we should dwell much on homonyms in the primary grades except to help the child use the correct words when he writes.

After he has had some experience using "there", "their" or "hear", "here", he might profit from some practice at using homonymns in different meaningful sentences, one after the other. Perhaps he could do so with more profit in the fourth or fifth grade than in the second or third.

Before long, the child in the grades will learn that certain other sounds seem the same but are spelled differently, such as the "oo" sound of "you", "dew", "ewe", "shoe", "do".

WITH SOME exposure to groups of words like these, he will conclude that, while knowing basic sounds helps him in spelling, there are many words whose own spelling he will just have to memorize.

But he may not profit as much from practice on groups of this sort in the early grades as he may a few grades higher. While helping him to get the basic sounds of vowels and their combinations, it is better not to burden him with the many exceptions to the rule.

But there comes a time when the child must realize the cold hard fact that many words are not spelled phonetically and that he will just have to learn the spelling of these many exceptional words by heart, going over and over them till he masters their correct spelling. Besides, writing sentences using homonymns with their correct meaning can be a fascinating exercise for the older child.

My bulletins, "Home Helps for Poor Spellers" and "Home Fun With Phonics," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Man Forfeits But Arrest Is Ordered

Bonds totaling $180 on four charges were forfeited and a bench warrant issued for an East End motorist when he failed to appear in Municipal Court.

Granted a continuance from Sept. 17, Robert B. Skinner, 1923 Harvey Ave., failed to show up this morning to answer charges of reckless driving, resisting arrest, making loud and unnecessary noise with a faulty muffler and failing to have his rear license plate illuminated.

When Skinner failed to appear, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ordered the bonds forfeited and warrant issued, declaring:

"The court cannot show a differential between policeman and defendants," referring to a warning issued last week in which he said arresting officers who fail to appear will be cited for contempt.

When the case was called this morning, Atty. W. S. Foulks said his client hadn't appeared. Judge Chertoff ordered a 15-minute recess to await the defendant and then took the action at the end of the time period.

Skinner was arrested last Thursday by Patrolman Paul Blevins on the four charges after running away from his car. The reckless driving charge alleges Skinner drove left of center at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St., passed other vehicles at the intersection with Valley Ave. and traveled 40 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

Elmer J. Merchant Jr. of Glenmoor was fined $15 and costs this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving left of center. He was cited Saturday night on County Rd. 427 by the State Highway Patrol.

Theatrical Figure Dies

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Barry Lupino, 80, member of a famous theatrical family who made his stage debut at the age of 2, died Tuesday.

Trevor Howard, the British actor, says he may quit England for the United States or some other country because a London court withdrew his driving privileges for eight years. Howard, who drew the penalty when convicted of drunken driving, said he can't imagine life without driving. As for the possibility he may leave England, he said: "They have driven me to it."

U.S. Dist. Judge Kenneth P. Grubb ruled in Milwaukee that when you bet on a sure thing, it isn't gambling and doesn't violate the antigambling laws. The decision came in the case of three men whose two-way radio hookup enabled them to place bets with Milwaukee bookies on races that already had been run at Oaklawn race track in Hot Springs, Ark. Noting that the defendants were certain to win and the bookmakers certain to lose, Judge Grubb dismissed federal grand jury indictments against them and commented: "However nefarious, the scheme did not involve the element of chance."

Ben Moreell, retired board chairman of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., helped his stepson, Alan I.W. Frank, 27, subdue an intruder in the Moreell home in Pittsburgh. The struggle ended when Moreell's nurse, Rita Fritz, socked the intruder on the head with a glass vase. Moreell said he was glad she did because "I just passed my 70th birthday 11 days ago, and I was getting pretty tired."

Rain Again Halts Street Surfacing

After a one-day interruption which permitted it to resume work, the Ohio Tar & Asphalt Co. of Canton probably will be unable to continue surfacing city streets because of the rain, city officials said this morning.

It marks the second postponement this week after the Canton firm had to call off its crew Tuesday because of a steady rain.

Resuming work Wednesday, the crew finished work on Pleasant Heights streets included in the program this year, primed and applied one seal to Trentvale St. and primed Watson St., Laurel Ln., Pearl Alley and half of Ogden St., W. M. Laughlin, street superintendent, said.

Property owners on some 60 streets petitioned for the low-cost improvement in the program proposed by City Council in which the city and property owners share the cost equally.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Sound-Alike Words Create Problems

Many a child in the early grades confuses letters of the alphabet like "b" and "d". When he does so, his parent or teacher may make him practice these letters together, hoping he will distinguish them. Instead, any two letters or words easily confused should be kept apart. The child should practice one of them with the other out of his sight and hearing. Let him study "b" carefully, writing it and finding it in many words on a page, without looking for "d" in the meanwhile. With "b" well fixed in his mind, "d" may be seen or heard without confusion.

FORTUNATELY, IN most spelling lists for the early grades homonymns, like "too", "to", "two" or "pair", "pear", "pare," do not appear together. It would be very hard for a young child to keep from confusing them if they did. Also, when a child does confuse such words, we should have him study each word separately.

It is doubtful whether we should dwell much on homonyms in the primary grades except to help the child use the correct words when he writes.

After he has had some experience using "there", "their" or "hear", "here", he might profit from some practice at using homonymns in different meaningful sentences, one after the other. Perhaps he could do so with more profit in the fourth or fifth grade than in the second or third.

Before long, the child in the grades will learn that certain other sounds seem the same but are spelled differently, such as the "oo" sound of "you", "dew", "ewe", "shoe", "do".

WITH SOME exposure to groups of words like these, he will conclude that, while knowing basic sounds helps him in spelling, there are many words whose own spelling he will just have to memorize.

But he may not profit as much from practice on groups of this sort in the early grades as he may a few grades higher. While helping him to get the basic sounds of vowels and their combinations, it is better not to burden him with the many exceptions to the rule.

But there comes a time when the child must realize the cold hard fact that many words are not spelled phonetically and that he will just have to learn the spelling of these many exceptional words by heart, going over and over them till he masters their correct spelling. Besides, writing sentences using homonymns with their correct meaning can be a fascinating exercise for the older child.

My bulletins, "Home Helps for Poor Spellers" and "Home Fun With Phonics," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Man Forfeits But Arrest Is Ordered

Bonds totaling $180 on four charges were forfeited and a bench warrant issued for an East End motorist when he failed to appear in Municipal Court.

Granted a continuance from Sept. 17, Robert B. Skinner, 1923 Harvey Ave., failed to show up this morning to answer charges of reckless driving, resisting arrest, making loud and unnecessary noise with a faulty muffler and failing to have his rear license plate illuminated.

When Skinner failed to appear, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ordered the bonds forfeited and warrant issued, declaring:

"The court cannot show a differential between policeman and defendants," referring to a warning issued last week in which he said arresting officers who fail to appear will be cited for contempt.

When the case was called this morning, Atty. W. S. Foulks said his client hadn't appeared. Judge Chertoff ordered a 15-minute recess to await the defendant and then took the action at the end of the time period.

Skinner was arrested last Thursday by Patrolman Paul Blevins on the four charges after running away from his car. The reckless driving charge alleges Skinner drove left of center at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St., passed other vehicles at the intersection with Valley Ave. and traveled 40 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

Elmer J. Merchant Jr. of Glenmoor was fined $15 and costs this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving left of center. He was cited Saturday night on County Rd. 427 by the State Highway Patrol.

Trevor Howard, the British actor, says he may quit England for the United States or some other country because a London court withdrew his driving privileges for eight years. Howard, who drew the penalty when convicted of drunken driving, said he can't imagine life without driving. As for the possibility he may leave England, he said: "They have driven me to it."

U.S. Dist. Judge Kenneth P. Grubb ruled in Milwaukee that when you bet on a sure thing, it isn't gambling and doesn't violate the antigambling laws. The decision came in the case of three men whose two-way radio hookup enabled them to place bets with Milwaukee bookies on races that already had been run at Oaklawn race track in Hot Springs, Ark. Noting that the defendants were certain to win and the bookmakers certain to lose, Judge Grubb dismissed federal grand jury indictments against them and commented: "However nefarious, the scheme did not involve the element of chance."

Ben Moreell, retired board chairman of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., helped his stepson, Alan I.W. Frank, 27, subdue an intruder in the Moreell home in Pittsburgh. The struggle ended when Moreell's nurse, Rita Fritz, socked the intruder on the head with a glass vase. Moreell said he was glad she did because "I just passed my 70th birthday 11 days ago, and I was getting pretty tired."

Rain Again Halts Street Surfacing

After a one-day interruption which permitted it to resume work, the Ohio Tar & Asphalt Co. of Canton probably will be unable to continue surfacing city streets because of the rain, city officials said this morning.

It marks the second postponement this week after the Canton firm had to call off its crew Tuesday because of a steady rain.

Resuming work Wednesday, the crew finished work on Pleasant Heights streets included in the program this year, primed and applied one seal to Trentvale St. and primed Watson St., Laurel Ln., Pearl Alley and half of Ogden St., W. M. Laughlin, street superintendent, said.

Property owners on some 60 streets petitioned for the low-cost improvement in the program proposed by City Council in which the city and property owners share the cost equally.

ROGERS — Consideration of a formal contract with the Rogers volunteer fire department and appointment of a new councilman and a new village marshal are scheduled for a meeting of Council Monday night at 7.

Mayor Robert McCreary announced Marshal Dale Pitzer has submitted his resignation effective Sunday. Pitzer, of Depot St., has obtained the Y-Inn from Mr. and Mrs. Jack Artrip and will operate it.

Council will consider a contract with the firemen, to replace the present fire protection system for which the Negley fire department is primarily responsible under terms approved a number of years ago.

Appointment of a councilman to replace Everett Galbreath, who resigned, also is scheduled.

Midland Man's Case Continued To Nov. 5

The case of Pedro Borges, 30, of 400 Midland Ave., Midland, charged with carrying a concealed weapon and aggravated assault and battery, was continued to Nov. 5 at a hearing Tuesday night before Justice of the Peace George Griffin of Midland.

The assault charge was filed by Willie Williams Jr., 26, of 14 4th St., Midland, who was allegedly cut with a knife by Borges Sept. 12 after an argument at the Midland Elks Club. Williams was hospitalized.

Police filed the weapons charge. Griffin said the hearing was continued to allow additional time for counsel for both.

$10,000 Damages In Truck Crash

Neither driver was hurt but there was an estimated $10,000 damage when a farm truck, driven by an Andover (Ohio) man and a tractor-trailer operated by a Wellsburg area man, apparently sideswiped on Route 168, two miles north of Frankfort Springs, about 4:15 a. m. today.

The Carnegie barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said the tractor-trailer was driven by Richard D. Peppler of Wellsburg R. D. 2. They estimated $8,000 damage to the tractor, described as a total loss, $1,000 to the cargo of cracked corn and $500 to the trailer.

The farm truck was driven by Roy Lee Queen of Andover R. D. 2, and estimated $75 damage to the truck and about $40 to equipment on the truck, a farm disker and a plow.

Police said both vehicles apparently were crowding the middle of the road. When they sideswiped, the tractor-trailer went out of control and ran off the road, riding the embankment. A rock or boulder caught the front wheels and turned the rig into the bank, police said.

Strongarm Loss $3,509

WEIRTON — Police were questioning several suspects today in the strongarm theft of $3,509 from a tavern employe on a street in North Weirton Wednesday morning.

The thief, described as a tall, 200-pounder dressed in work clothes and partially bald, overpowered Nick Munas, 56, and escaped with the money that was scooped from the street when a brown paper bag containing about $10,000 was ripped open in a scuffle.

Munas, a part-time employe of Tassey's Tavern, was walking from the Bank of Weirton to the tavern with the bag of money, apparently to be used to cash checks of millworkers.

The thief fled to a nearby car in which a companion was waiting, and drove north on State Route 2, eluding roadblocks set up by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Police said a woman sitting in her parked car nearby witnessed the theft.

The car used in the get-away was described as a dirty 1957 or 1958 sedan. Police said the thief wore dark pants, a work shirt and boot-type shoes with white laces.

$10,000 Damages In Truck Crash

Neither driver was hurt but there was an estimated $10,000 damage when a farm truck, driven by an Andover (Ohio) man and a tractor-trailer operated by a Wellsburg area man, apparently sideswiped on Route 168, two miles north of Frankfort Springs, about 4:15 a. m. today.

The Carnegie barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said the tractor-trailer was driven by Richard D. Peppler of Wellsburg R. D. 2. They estimated $8,000 damage to the tractor, described as a total loss, $1,000 to the cargo of cracked corn and $500 to the trailer.

The farm truck was driven by Roy Lee Queen of Andover R. D. 2, and estimated $75 damage to the truck and about $40 to equipment on the truck, a farm disker and a plow.

Police said both vehicles apparently were crowding the middle of the road. When they sideswiped, the tractor-trailer went out of control and ran off the road, riding the embankment. A rock or boulder caught the front wheels and turned the rig into the bank, police said.

Strongarm Loss $3,509

WEIRTON — Police were questioning several suspects today in the strongarm theft of $3,509 from a tavern employe on a street in North Weirton Wednesday morning.

The thief, described as a tall, 200-pounder dressed in work clothes and partially bald, overpowered Nick Munas, 56, and escaped with the money that was scooped from the street when a brown paper bag containing about $10,000 was ripped open in a scuffle.

Munas, a part-time employe of Tassey's Tavern, was walking from the Bank of Weirton to the tavern with the bag of money, apparently to be used to cash checks of millworkers.

The thief fled to a nearby car in which a companion was waiting, and drove north on State Route 2, eluding roadblocks set up by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

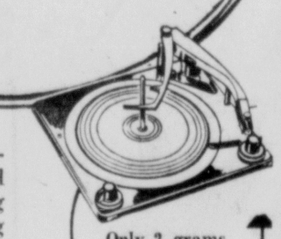

Police said a woman sitting in her parked car nearby witnessed the theft.

The car used in the get-away was described as a dirty 1957 or 1958 sedan. Police said the thief wore dark pants, a work shirt and boot-type shoes with white laces.

Sweets Habit Can Be Broken

"My trouble is that I love sweets, and I haven't any will power when it comes to not eating them."

Ida Jean Kain

If you, along with countless others, lament your lack of will power when it comes to cutting down sweets, change the record. In repeating the phrase, almost like a phonograph record, you are setting up a rationalization. Recognize that the idea of helplessness solves nothing.

Do you want to break the sweet habit? If you agree that you would like to be able to take sweets or leave them instead of feeling impelled to eat them, fine. It's a matter of attitude, plus the awareness that sweets create the craving for more sweets.

—:—

WHEN FACED with a delectible carbohydrate, do you say, 'My that looks good, I'd sure like to eat it but it's frightfully high in calories!'

This way of thinking is self-defeating. To associate sweets with self - denial is a mistake. This makes it a tug of will, and the will doesn't work that way.

Now back to the dessert. You can eat it if you want to, or you can get over craving desserts, provided that is what you want to do. Since this may be hard to believe, tune in to a letter from someone who succeeded beautifully. She writes:

"Here's the miracle, I have no more yen for cakes, ice cream, pies, candy or big gobs of whipped cream. I, who used to live on sweets, have cured my sweet tooth. It's a wonderful experience."

How did she do this? She reasoned, "I can eat that sweet and it would taste delicious — for a few minutes. But my happiness isn't in eating that dessert, for I want to break the sweet habit and get out of the fat lady class."

Dieters, haven't you found that the more sweets you eat, the more you want to eat sweets? The physical reason for this is connected with hormonal control. It isn't the calories so much as the fact that concentrated sweets are quickly burned, the blood sugar level falls rapidly and presently you feel hungry again.

This is termed a post-dessert swing. In short, with excess sweets your blood sugar and your appetite are no longer stabilized by hormonal control.

—:—

BY LEAVING off sweets for a time you stop the powerful stimulus that is creating the uncontrollable appetite. Then you're in the driver's seat, and you can take desserts or leave them.

The change will be that you no longer feel compelled to eat sweets. You've won!

Send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

South Side Republicans Plan Attendance For County Rally

Plans to attend a Beaver County Republican rally Oct. 29 and to hold an auction Oct. 27 were discussed at a meeting of the South Side Republican Club Monday night at South Side School near Hookstown.

Mrs. Grace Wilson, president, said that in lieu of the next meeting, the club will attend the countywide rally Oct. 29 at 8:30 p. m. at the Municipal Building on Mowry Rd. in Potter Township.

The rally is being sponsored by the Beaver County Republican Committee with representatives of all South Side communities invited. All local candidates will be present and refreshments will be served.

The auction will be held at the Hookstown Grange hall. Persons with items to donate may call James Miller at ES. 5-9586, Kenneth Salsbury at ES. 8-2675 or James Brooks at SP. 4-4591.

Brooks, named general chairman for the sale, approved various chairmen:

Salsbury and Miller, sales and auction; Mrs. Virginia Maki and Mrs. Emma Crothers, clothing; Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Dorothea Brooks, publicity, and advertisement; Mrs. Martha Montgomery and Mrs. Eleanor Laughlin, baked goods; Mrs. Kenneth Salsbury and Mrs. Victoria Coble, refreshments, and Mrs. Ida Barnes and Mrs. Robert Dunn, jewelry and novelties.

A reorganization meeting for the South Side Junior Republican Club will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks of Hookstown R. D. 1.

Plans for the new club were completed recently. All members of the adult club were asked to urge young people in their areas to attend the organization meeting.

New committee chairmen were named by Mrs. Wilson. A report was given on the recent visit to the county of William Scranton, candidate for governor.

Travel slides of Hawaii and Greece were screened. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Salsbury and Mrs. Mont McCoy.

Young GOP Club Sets Meeting At Wellsville

The second meeting of the Wellsville Young Republicans Club will be held Wednesday in the Wellsville Carnegie Public Library, according to Atty. Charles Pike, county Republican chairman.

Officers of the new club are Merle Kinney, president; Atty. Warren Bettis, vice president, and Mrs. Marjorie Carter, secretary-treasurer.

This is the third Young Republican Club formed in the county within the past year Pike said. Salem had the first club, and East Liverpool the second.

Salem's president is Pete Johnson, and Paul Zehnder is president of the East Liverpool Club. Area young Republicans are urged to join one of these three clubs, Pike said.

Even Battle Seen For 41st ELHS-New Philly Game

Both Teams Seeking 1st Win In '62

Friday night's game between East Liverpool and New Philadelphia, ancient rivals of the gridiron, shapes up as one of the most even meetings in the long series between the two schools.

The encounter will be the 41st in a string of football battles that dates back to 1913.

Both teams will take the field looking for their first victory following three straight setbacks.

The personnel, with the exception of two or three, is practically the same as it was a year ago when the Potters won, 8-6, at New Philly.

—:—

THE EXCEPTIONS for New Philly could be big ones though. One is Dale Tate, a 200-pound junior fullback, who is the chief threat for the Quakers.

Tate played at Canton McKinley last year, earning a letter as a sophomore for the Bulldogs. He since has transferred to New Philly, where his father has been a long-time resident. Tate had two older brothers who performed for New Philly.

Just rounding into shape last week, Tate ripped the Martins Ferry defense for 114 yards in 28 carries as New Philly battled the Riders all the way before losing 14-6.

LAST week's performance against Ferry was by far the best of the season for the Quakers and it could be that Coach Al Christopher's team is heading towards its peak. Before last week New Philly had dropped lopsided contests to Wooster, 26-0 and Jackson, 42-0.

Another transfer this season comes from Martins Ferry. He is Dan Mamula, a 205-pound junior tackle who won a letter on the crack Martins Ferry outfit of 1961. Mamula had two older brothers who made All-Ohio honors at Martins Ferry.

With Tate in the Quaker backfield are three veterans, led by senior quarterback Jack Cargnel at 165. The halfbacks, Terry Keiser (155) and Tom Fragasse (135), are both juniors but won letters last season.

—:—

ALL BUT one lineman, left end Bob Celce, (175) lettered last season. The letter winners include Eric Gribble (170) at the other end spot, while Bob Hixon teams with Mamula at tackle, giving the Quakers a couple of 205-pounders at those positions.

The guard spots will be held down by Dan Johnston, a 170-pound junior, and Tom Farbizo, 175-pound senior. At center will be Cuyler Trachsell, a 170-pound junior.

Parent's Night Set At EL-Philly Game

Argentine Fighter Remains In A Coma

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alejandro Lavorante, 25-year-old Argentine heavyweight who was knocked out in a fight here last Friday night, still hasn't regained consciousness.

Dr. J. DeWitt Fox, who performed two emergency operations to relieve pressure on the boxer's brain, says it appears that the coma will be prolonged.

Dr. DeWitt and a team of three other neurosurgeons say Lavorante's chance of survival is a little better than 50 per cent. His pulse and respiration are normal. His temperature has a tendency to rise but is being maintained at normal by a cooling blanket.

Tadd Smith, University of Mississippi athletic director, scored a 40-yard touchdown run and booted the conversion to help Ole Miss to a 20-19 victory over Mississippi A & M (State) in 1928. It was his final game as a collegian.

Frisco Still 2 Games Behind

Dodgers Top Colts, 13-1; Giants Win, Number Is 3

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The front-running Los Angeles Dodgers reduced their magic number to three Wednesday night with a 17-hit attack that overwhelmed Houston 13-1 and left the second-place San Francisco Giants two lengths behind with four games to play.

The Giants kept pace with 6-3 triumph over St. Louis as Tom Haller drove in four runs with a homer and double and Orlando Cepeda accounted for the clincher with a bases-empty homer.

The Dodgers now need any combination of three victories and or San Francisco defeats in the final four games to clinch the National League flag. The Dodgers have one game left with the Colts, then wind up with a three-game series against St. Louis. San Francisco plays the Cards once more, then tackles Houston three times.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, Earl Francis and Bob Friend combined for a three-hitter as Pittsburgh edged third-place Cincinnati 1-0 in 11 innings, Milwaukee made New York the losingest team in modern major league history by beating the Mets 6-3 and Philadelphia whipped the Chicago Cubs 6-5 on Wes Covington's three-run homer.

The Colts pulled out front in the first inning on consecutive singles by Al Heist, Jim Pendleton and Johnny Temple, but Johnny Podres (15-12) settled down and was touched for only five more hits before he was taken out for a rest after seven innings. Jack Smith and Larry Sherry finished up. The Dodgers chased George Brunet (2-4) with two runs in the second inning and a pair in the third. Then Frank Howard took over, hitting a three-run homer in the fourth inning—his 31st homer—and a two-run single in the fifth.

Maury Wills provided the expected daring on the basepaths when he and Tommy Davis executed a double steal in the third inning, Wills sliding into third ahead of Hal Smith's throw for his 100th steal.

The Giants opened the scoring in the second as Willie Mays walked, Jim Davenport singled and Haller followed with a two-run double. They made it 3-0 in the fifth. Cepeda then accounted for the decisive run in the sixth as he tagged Curt Simmons (9-10) for home run No. 33.

Mantle, Runnels Eye Hit Title

Orioles' Rookie Hurler Fires 2-Hitter In Debut

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With the pennant again safely stowed away by the New York Yankees, let us now look at some interesting odds and ends to be cleaned up before the American League closes up shop for 1962 on Sunday.

For openers, there's the nifty duel between the Yankees' Mickey Mantle and Boston's Pete Runnels for the batting title.

And then there's the possibility of some changes in the standings. Of the 10 teams, only the Yanks in first, Kansas City in ninth and Washington in last are set.

Minnesota's runnerup Twins can drop no lower than third, thus are assured of a share of the World Series money, but the Angels, White Sox and Tigers still are fighting for a cut of the loot that is distributed among the first four finishers. As of now, Minnesota is six games off the pace, Los Angeles 8½, Chicago 10 and Detroit is 11½.

In the next echelon, Cleveland, Baltimore and Boston are bunched within a two-game span.

Mantle was 2-for-4 as the Yankees downed Washington 9-5, lifting his average to .322, while Runnels went hitless in four tries in Boston's 9-3 loss to Chicago and fell to .326.

In other AL games, left-hander Dave McNally, 19, made a brilliant major league debut, firing a two-hitter as the Orioles trimmed the Athletics 3-0 in the opener of a doubleheader, but Kansas City gained a split by taking the second game 6-2; and rookie Tom Satriano's hitting powered the Angels over the Tigers 8-5. Minnesota and Cleveland were idle.

In the National League race, the Los Angeles Dodgers walloped Houston 13-1 and kept their two-game lead over San Francisco, a 6-3 winner over St. Louis. Pittsburgh shaded Cincinnati 1-0 in 11 innings, Philadelphia nipped Chicago 6-5 and Milwaukee beat New York 6-3 for the Mets' 118th defeat, making them the losingest team in modern big league history.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Tom Haller, Giants, drove in four runs with a two-run homer and double in 6-3 victory over St. Louis that kept second-place San Francisco two games behind National League leading Los Angeles.

PITCHING — Dave McNally, Orioles, making his major league debut, hurled a two-hitter for 3-0 triumph over Kansas City in first game of twi-night doubleheader, retiring the last 17 batters in order.

Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers tuned up for the National Football League season with 45 points in pre - season exhibitions. He scored two touchdowns, made 24 extra points and three field goals.

Wellsville Picked For 2nd

Key Midland Players Out With Injuries

Drawing their second out-of-state opponent this month, Wellsville High's Tigers will swing against injury - racked Midland Friday night, a slight favorite to record their second win in succession.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected at Nicholson Stadium for the renewal of another local rivalry. The battle will mark the conclusion of a three - game home stand for the Tigers.

The kickoff will be at 8.

—:—

MIDLAND, hit hard by early season injuries, has lost three letter - winners for the Wellsville game. The Leopards have had rough sailing thus far, losing three straight.

Coach Charles Polce said the Leopards will perform without Tom Flasco, 190, and Ted Vaughn, 190, both tackles, and Mike Krivoshia, a back. And Art Vaughn, regular fullback, will see only limited duty.

Meanwhile, Wellsvlile came through the Toronto game last week in near - peak condition. Coach Ken Woods will start the same eleven that ripped Toronto, 28-8, for the Tigers' first win.

—:—

ONLY MIKE Welch, husky tackle and co-captain, was hurt in the Toronto victory. But he's set to see full duty on the front wall. The Tiger backfield will remain intact, with Jim Reed at quarterback, Mark Leyda and Alvin Thompson at halfbacks and Leo Pearson at fullback. Pearson was a big surprise in last week's game, carrying 21 times for 79 yards.

Comparative scores against a common opponent — Beaver—relegate Wellsvlile to the role of a favorite, along with the Tigers' great defensive showing last week against previously - unbeaten Toronto.

In their season opener, Wellsville forced Beaver the entire second half and lost 13-7 on a bad snap from center and a few other costly offensive errors.

—:—

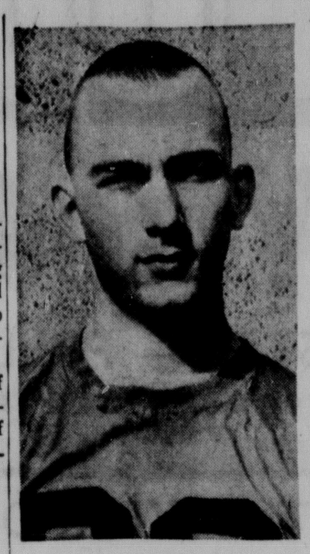

MIDLAND was cut down by the same Beaver team last week, 20-0. The Leopards have scored one touchdown this season in losing to Canon - McMillan, 20-6. Quarterback Don Miller got the tally.

The Leopards will field a veteran backfield in Miller, Sam Zigerelli, Rich Lake and Jesse Torres, all letter winners. But the line will show only two lettermen. Gary Perkins, leading pass receiver last year, has been lost for the season with a thumb injury.

Over the years, Midland has been one of Wellsville's most worthy opponents. Seven games have been played, with the Leopards triumphing in five.

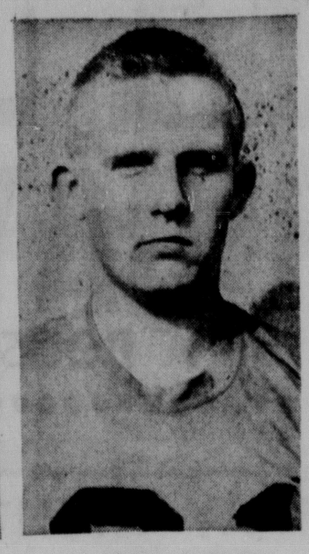

Wellsville's two victories came in 1919, 6-0, and in 1941, 24-0. Then Midland won the next five in a row—6-0 in 1942; 19-13 in 1946; 26-0 in 1947; 41-6 in 1955, and 27-0 in 1956.

Joe Grba, athletic trainer at Hardin - Simmons University, is the father of Eli Grba, pitcher with the Los Angeles Angels.

MIKE WELCH
Wellsville Co-Captain.

Westgaters Rip Palestine

Quarterback Chuck Winters and halfback Clarence Crable were the offensive sparkplugs in Westgate's 32-6 opening game victory over East Palestine Wednesday afternoon at Patterson Field.

Winters fired two touchdown passes and scored another while Crable crossed the goal line twice.

Westgate opened with two touchdowns on the arm of Winters in the first period. Mike Silliman took a 55-yard touchdown pass and Crable was on the receiving end of a 25-yarder.

Crable struck again in the second quarter on a 65-yard touchdown sprint and Winters went over from four yards out to cap the scoring in the third period.

East Palestine broke up the shutout with a touchdown in the final quarter.

Len Walker, Jerry Vaughn, Silliman and Winters added conversions.

Coach Larry Foltz wouldn't single out any individual stars but praised his squad for "a team effort."

The Westgate eleven meets Wellsville next Thursday at Patterson Field with kickoff at 4:15.

Yanks Show Defense Edge

NEW YORK (AP)—No matter how you juggle the figures and Dodger Manager Walt Alston juggles his lineup, the New York Yankees will take a better defensive club than Los Angeles into the World Series opening next Wednesday.

It also would be a mistake to figure that there is much to choose between the clubs as far as batting is concerned. There isn't.

The Dodgers have a collective batting average of .270 to the Yankees' .266. New York leads in home runs, 192 to 139.

However, the fielding statistics are much more revealing. The Yankees have a .980 mark with 124 errors while Los Angeles has made 179 miscues for a .970—the lowest in the National League except for the New York Mets. In double plays, New York is ahead 144 to 132.

Wellsville Picked For 2nd

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Key Midland Players Out With Injuries

Drawing their second out-of-state opponent this month, Wellsville High's Tigers will swing against injury - racked Midland Friday night, a slight favorite to record their second win in succession.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected at Nicholson Stadium for the renewal of another local rivalry. The battle will mark the conclusion of a three - game home stand for the Tigers.

The kickoff will be at 8.

—:—

MIDLAND, hit hard by early season injuries, has lost three letter - winners for the Wellsville game. The Leopards have had rough sailing thus far, losing three straight.

Coach Charles Polce said the Leopards will perform without Tom Flasco, 190, and Ted Vaughn, 190, both tackles, and Mike Krivoshia, a back. And Art Vaughn, regular fullback, will see only limited duty.

Meanwhile, Wellsvlile came through the Toronto game last week in near - peak condition. Coach Ken Woods will start the same eleven that ripped Toronto, 28-8, for the Tigers' first win.

—:—

ONLY MIKE Welch, husky tackle and co-captain, was hurt in the Toronto victory. But he's set to see full duty on the front wall. The Tiger backfield will remain intact, with Jim Reed at quarterback, Mark Leyda and Alvin Thompson at halfbacks and Leo Pearson at fullback. Pearson was a big surprise in last week's game, carrying 21 times for 79 yards.

Comparative scores against a common opponent — Beaver—relegate Wellsvlile to the role of a favorite, along with the Tigers' great defensive showing last week against previously - unbeaten Toronto.

In their season opener, Wellsville forced Beaver the entire second half and lost 13-7 on a bad snap from center and a few other costly offensive errors.

—:—

MIDLAND was cut down by the same Beaver team last week, 20-0. The Leopards have scored one touchdown this season in losing to Canon - McMillan, 20-6. Quarterback Don Miller got the tally.

The Leopards will field a veteran backfield in Miller, Sam Zigerelli, Rich Lake and Jesse Torres, all letter winners. But the line will show only two lettermen. Gary Perkins, leading pass receiver last year, has been lost for the season with a thumb injury.

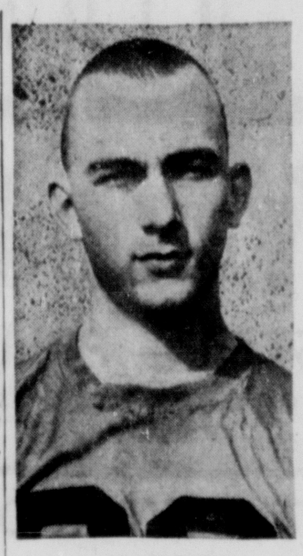

Over the years, Midland has been one of Wellsville's most worthy opponents. Seven games have been played, with the Leopards triumphing in five.

Wellsville's two victories came in 1919, 6-0, and in 1941, 24-0. Then Midland won the next five in a row—6-0 in 1942; 19-13 in 1946; 26-0 in 1947; 41-6 in 1955, and 27-0 in 1956.

Joe Grba, athletic trainer at Hardin - Simmons University, is the father of Eli Grba, pitcher with the Los Angeles Angels.

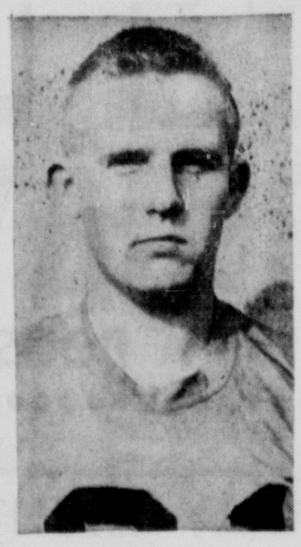

Wellsville League Schedules Tag Day

A Tag Day will be held Saturday in Wellsville by the Little League Football organization. Youngsters who perform in league games will sell tags and proceeds will be used for equipment and other items, Wayne Rose, commissioner, announced.

MIKE WELCH
Wellsville Co-Captain.

Yanks Show Defense Edge

NEW YORK (AP)—No matter how you juggle the figures and Dodger Manager Walt Alston juggles his lineup, the New York Yankees will take a better defensive club than Los Angeles into the World Series opening next Wednesday.

It also would be a mistake to figure that there is much to choose between the clubs as far as batting is concerned. There isn't.

The Dodgers have a collective batting average of .270 to the Yankees' .266. New York leads in home runs, 192 to 139.

However, the fielding statistics are much more revealing. The Yankees have a .980 mark with 124 errors while Los Angeles has made 179 miscues for a .970—the lowest in the National League except for the New York Mets. In double plays, New York is ahead 144 to 132.

Westgaters Rip Palestine

Quarterback Chuck Winters and halfback Clarence Crable were the offensive sparkplugs in Westgate's 32-6 opening game victory over East Palestine Wednesday afternoon at Patterson Field.

Winters fired two touchdown passes and scored another while Crable crossed the goal line twice.

Westgate opened with two touchdowns on the arm of Winters in the first period. Mike Silliman took a 55-yard touchdown pass and Crable was on the receiving end of a 25-yarder.

Crable struck again in the second quarter on a 65-yard touchdown sprint and Winters went over from four yards out to cap the scoring in the third period.

East Palestine broke up the shutout with a touchdown in the final quarter.

Len Walker, Jerry Vaughn, Silliman and Winters added conversions.

Coach Larry Foltz wouldn't single out any individual stars but praised his squad for "a team effort."

The Westgate eleven meets Wellsville next Thursday at Patterson Field with kickoff at 4:15.

There'll be a familiar name in an unfamiliar role Saturday when Notre Dame and Oklahoma, a couple of rebuilding college football giants, clash at Norman, Okla.

The name belongs to Tom MacDonald, a junior left halfback.

This MacDonald should not be confused with Tommy MacDonald, a two-time All America halfback for the then-mighty Sooners in 1955 and 1956.

Saturday, halfback MacDonald will be playing against the Sooners. He's a starter for Notre Dame in the season opener for the Irish, which is the national television college game of the week.

Time was when such a clash could involve the nation's No. 1 ranking. Neither is ranked among the top 10 this season, but both are in the process of rebuilding teams that have been less than impressive in recent seasons.

Each was 5-5 last year, but Coach Bud Wilkinson's Sooners seem to have the edge in this one.

Notre Dame has been troubled by ineligibilities and injuries.

Mighty Alabama, the defending national champion and No. 1 in the first weekly Associated Press poll this season, opens the weekend action with a visit to Tulane Friday night.

And Coach Paul Bryant is less than confident about it. The record book supports him. In the last eight meetings, Tulane has won three and tied two, generally in an underdog role.

Alabama ranks as a solid favorite. The Crimson Tide opened with a 35-0 rout of Georgia last week while Tulane fell before Stanford 6-3.

Two members of the top 10 are opening their seasons Saturday: Ohio State (No. 2) is at home to North Carolina and Michigan (No. 6) visits Stanford.

The other nationally ranked squads each have a 1-0 record and each figures to improve this week. They include Texas (No. 3) at Texas Tech; Air Force at Penn State (No. 4); Rice at Louisiana State (No. 5); Kentucky at Mississippi (No. 7); Georgia Tech (No. 8) at Florida; Southern California (No. 9) at Southern Methodist and Missouri (No. 10) at Minnesota.

Koufax Will Face Crucial Test Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sandy Koufax may be facing the most critical point of his career tonight when he takes the mound for Los Angeles against the Houston Colts in a game that could go a long way toward deciding the National League pennant.

The troubled southpaw is still not fully recovered from the finger injury that struck him last July, but he is determined to prove to himself that he still possesses the mastery that made him the most feared pitcher in the game this year.

"I'd hate to spend the whole winter wondering whether I'll ever be able to pitch again," he said Wednesday night. "I mean pitch the way I know I'm capable of pitching. I've got to find out now.

"Don't misunderstand me. I think I can pitch and win, otherwise I wouldn't attempt it. It's too important to the club and to me to gamble. But I won't know unless I give it a try."

The 26-year-old Brooklyn-born pitching star insisted there no longer is any pain in the left index finger that suddenly underwent a vascular disturbance (loss of circulation) about six weeks ago.

"It's just annoying," he said. "I've been assured there is no danger of any harm to the finger by pitching.

Latest Title Fight May Mark End Of Multimillion Dollar Spectacles

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Sonny Liston's sudden annihilation of Floyd Patterson may have marked the end of boxing's multimillion dollar spectacles for maybe two years or more.

If Patterson, the dethroned heavyweight king, decides to go through with the return fight—promised by Liston—the promoters are going to find it difficult to sell the public on $100 ringside seats and theater-television at prices ranging from $3.50 to $10.

That was the general feeling today of the fans and the boxing writers who saw an amazingly inept Patterson succumb in just 2 minutes, 6 seconds to Liston's punches on Tuesday night.

Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, the former heavyweight champion who fought Patterson in three title fights, summed it up aptly when he said Liston handled Patterson "like a baby."

Championship Sports, Inc., if it promotes the return, will have problems finding a city to put the show in. New York's Athletic Commission rejected the first one by declining to license Liston.

Those who saw Liston demolish Patterson can't see how the return can end in any other way but another swift Patterson defeat.

If the heavyweights ever draw big again, Cassius Clay could be the redeemer. If the 1960 Olympic light heavyweight king from Louisville can handle ancient Archie Moore at Los Angeles Oct. 23 half as well as he says he will, he may be on the road to a title fight by 1964.

Clay is unbeaten, big and strong, personable and articulate. Only 20, he figures to get bigger and stronger. He can punch hard and fast.

Liston was scheduled to leave for Philadelphia today and then take off on a vacation. He may get part of his estimated purse of $282,000 to help him enjoy the holiday.

Promoter Tom Bolan of Championship Sports, Inc., said Eugene Coyle Jr., district director of the Internal Revenue Service, indicated he would release some of the money of the live gate that was seized by the government Tuesday night.

Bolan said the government seized the approximately $5 million receipts of the live gate, closed circuit television, and radio to challenge the deferred payment plan under which some $2 million was to be paid out over a 17-year period."

The lawyer-promoter said the decision would be of keen interest to the entire sports world since athletes in other fields besides boxing have petitioned in the past for payments spread over a period of years to lessen the income tax bite.

Mantle's Blistering Late Drive May Catch Runnels

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle is fighting a three-way battle in his last-ditch effort to win his second American League batting title.

The hot-hitting center fielder for New York's pennant-winning Yankees has to:

1. Reach the required number of official plate appearances (502) by going to bat at least nine times in the Yanks' remaining three games.

2. Keep collecting the hits.

3. And overcome the lead held by Pete Runnels of Boston.

No. 1 should prove no trouble. Yankee Manager Ralph Houk put Mantle into the leadoff spot Wednesday in a move to assure the slugger enough at bats and undoubtedly will do it the rest of the way.

But Nos. 2 and 3 will prove tough.

As of now, Runnels, after going 0-for-4 against Chicago Wednesday, is at .326 and Mantle, 2-for-4 against Washington, is at .322. Assuming each has 12 at bats in his remaining three games, and assuming Runnels stays at his current pace with 4-for-12, Mantle would have to go at a .500 clip to take the crown with a .327 mark.

Mantle, who won the title in 1956, has made his bid for his second championship with a blistering stretch run. One month ago he was at .290. Since then he's hit at a .452 pace, 33-for-73. In the past two games alone Mickey has picked up 10 points with six hits in eight trips. Runnels also is after his second batting title, having won in 1960.

Ironically, Mantle still is not listed among the league's top ten batters because of an insufficient number of official at bats. He's had 370 and the arbitrarily decided number to make the list is 375. Mickey has missed 39 games this season due to injuries and has played only part time in many others. He has 120 walks, two sacrifice and one hit-by-pitcher to raise his over-all appearance total to 493.

Frisco Fans Thinking Of World Series

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco, a city that only a week ago was looking eagerly forward to football or hockey or basketball—to anything but the final death rattle of its Giants—is suddenly thinking again about the World Series.

The Giants stayed two games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers as both won Wednesday. But the fans were noting that the Giants had made up half of a four-game deficit since Saturday, and still had four games left in which to make up the other half.

"Our chances certainly aren't getting any worse," says Giants president Horace Stoneham.

"We'll just keep listening to the radio," says Manager Alvin Dark, referring to Dodgers broadcasts from Los Angeles,

All about this apparent calm is feverish activity, despite the admitted longshot nature of the Giants' chances.

World Series press headquarters are being set up in a downtown hotel. Season ticket holders are flooding the box office with explanations of why their series ticket applications weren't mailed in on time.

The World Series program is rolling off the printing presses and ticket applications are being accepted from non-season ticket holders.

Other tickets, curiously stamped for games "X" and "F," are ready to go on sale late Sunday in case of a Giants-Dodger playoff.

300 Face Layoff

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — U. S. Steel Corp. expects to lay off about 300 employes at its National Tube Division here this weekend. A company spokesman said Nos. 3 and 4 seamless pipe mill operations will be reduced. He attributed the layoffs to a seasonal decline in demand for finished pipe products.

2. Keep collecting the hits.

3. And overcome the lead held by Pete Runnels of Boston.

No. 1 should prove no trouble. Yankee Manager Ralph Houk put Mantle into the leadoff spot Wednesday in a move to assure the slugger enough at bats and undoubtedly will do it the rest of the way.

But Nos. 2 and 3 will prove tough.

As of now, Runnels, after going 0-for-4 against Chicago Wednesday, is at .326 and Mantle, 2-for-4 against Washington, is at .322. Assuming each has 12 at bats in his remaining three games, and assuming Runnels stays at his current pace with 4-for-12, Mantle would have to go at a .500 clip to take the crown with a .327 mark.

Mantle, who won the title in 1956, has made his bid for his second championship with a blistering stretch run. One month ago he was at .290. Since then he's hit at a .452 pace, 33-for-73. In the past two games alone Mickey has picked up 10 points with six hits in eight trips. Runnels also is after his second batting title, having won in 1960.

Ironically, Mantle still is not listed among the league's top ten batters because of an insufficient number of official at bats. He's had 370 and the arbitrarily decided number to make the list is 375. Mickey has missed 39 games this season due to injuries and has played only part time in many others. He has 120 walks, two sacrifice and one hit-by-pitcher to raise his over-all appearance total to 493.

Frisco Fans Thinking Of World Series

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco, a city that only a week ago was looking eagerly forward to football or hockey or basketball—to anything but the final death rattle of its Giants—is suddenly thinking again about the World Series.

The Giants stayed two games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers as both won Wednesday. But the fans were noting that the Giants had made up half of a four-game deficit since Saturday, and still had four games left in which to make up the other half.

"Our chances certainly aren't getting any worse," says Giants president Horace Stoneham.

"We'll just keep listening to the radio," says Manager Alvin Dark, referring to Dodgers broadcasts from Los Angeles,

All about this apparent calm is feverish activity, despite the admitted longshot nature of the Giants' chances.

World Series press headquarters are being set up in a downtown hotel. Season ticket holders are flooding the box office with explanations of why their series ticket applications weren't mailed in on time.

The World Series program is rolling off the printing presses and ticket applications are being accepted from non-season ticket holders.

Other tickets, curiously stamped for games "X" and "F," are ready to go on sale late Sunday in case of a Giants-Dodger playoff.

300 Face Layoff

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — U. S. Steel Corp. expects to lay off about 300 employes at its National Tube Division here this weekend. A company spokesman said Nos. 3 and 4 seamless pipe mill operations will be reduced. He attributed the layoffs to a seasonal decline in demand for finished pipe products.

Examiner Cites 2 City Workers Of Youngstown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State examiner Roscoe A. Herring returned findings for recovery against two city employes and criticized payroll and other records of the city of Youngstown in a special report today.

The examination covered the period from Jan. 1, 1960, to Dec. 31, 1961.

Findings for recovery of $527 were returned against Beck Perline, former airport maintenance man, for salary allegedly paid after he took an absence without pay to comply with a request from the mayor's office for work during the 1961 political campaign. The examiner said he could find no record of a request for leave.

Another finding for $120 was returned against Rufus N. Wallace, a waterworks employe, for "dual employment" with the city and the General Fireproofing Co., where he formerly worked.

Herring said a study of waterworks payrolls showed an increase of $188,500 in 1961 over 1959. He attributed to the increase from $826,300 to $1,014,300 during that period to salary raises, overtime, sick leave and a work force exceeding authorized strength at times.

Midland May Get Dam Site For New Park

Legislation was approved Wednesday in Washington by two House public works subcommittees that would authorize transfer of federal property on the Ohio River to Midland for use as a public park.

The bill proposing new water projects would authorize transfer of 17.9 acres of government property at the former site of abandoned Dam No. 7.

Dam 7 was razed two years ago by the Army Engineers, made obsolete by the Stratton Super-dam.

A forerunner to the proposed Midland park is a recreational area being constructed at the former site of Dam 8 on the Ohio River near Newell.

The federal government appropriated $80,000 for the Newell park, which would have facilities for picnickers and boat docks covering four acres. After work is completed, the property will be leased to the Hancock County Planning and Development Commission.

Hancock County has taken over the structures at former Dam 9 at New Cumberland, the third district dam abandoned when Stratton went into operation.

Michael Perrotta, 13, son of Joseph Perrotta of 3rd Ave., LaCroft, received a sprain of the wrist while playing football.

James Householder, 3, son of Roland Householder of Hammondsville, was treated for a laceration of the forehead suffered on a baton.

While playing, Richard Wright, 6, son of Richard Wright of Hookstown, suffered a fractured right shoulder.

James Shaw, 18, son of Lloyd Shaw of Annesley Rd., received a cut of the right eyelid in a fall up steps.

Kidnaper Of 2 Captured By FBI In West Virginia

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ralph Ronald Jarensky Jr., subject of a three-state search to face kidnaping charges, was captured in a lonely area of Mingo County, W. Va., Wednesday night, the Cincinnati FBI office reported.

Ed Mason, agent-in-charge of the Cincinnati FBI office, said agents hidden in brush near the home of Jarensky's former girl friend captured the fugitive after a brief tussle.

Mason said Jarensky had bulled his way into the car of a Newport, Ky., grocer, Charles Elnes, 52, in Cincinnati Wednesday and forced Elnes and his wife, Abbie, 49, at gunpoint to drive him to the West Virginia area.

Mason said the Elnes couple managed to escape by driving off when Jarensky, 22, alighted outside the Mingo County home of Emojean Goudy, the girl friend, and started up a hill toward her house.

Three FBI agents who had been stalking Jarensky captured him as he approached the house.

Jarensky had been sought since he fled from a federal marshal in Covington, Ky., Monday.

FBI agents filed kidnap charges against him after he was identified as the man who Tuesday forced Albrey Howard, 39, and Virginia Rose, 40, of Covington to drive him from Covington to Cincinnati. The two were released unharmed.

Lincoln Memorial Defaced By Vandals

WASHINGTON (AP)— Vandals have defaced the white marble Lincoln Memorial, painting "nigger lover" in foot-high pink letters on the rear wall, U.S. Park Police report.

The paint has been scrubbed off, officials said, but specialists will have to be called in to blend the damaged area with the surrounding stone.

Nelson Murdock, deputy police chief, said the vandals apparently splashed the racial slur on the wall during the darkness of Sunday night or early Monday.

No arrests have been made.

Rhodes Attacks Ohio Governor On Bond Issues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate James A. Rhodes, who has been criticized by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle for bond issue provisions in Rhodes' proposals, says the DiSalle administration has contracted $158 million in bonded indebtedness. This debt requires $27.6 million in interest charges, he added.

Rhodes disputes claims the Democratic governor seeking reelection conducted "pay-as - you-go" operation of state government.

Rhodes charges the DiSalle administration "has generated a hate program against the Legislature for devising capital improvement and war bonus bond programs which provided the $185.6 million which it has spent.

"It is crass misrepresentation of fact," Rhodes said Wednesday night, "to assert that any legislature authorized these bond issues. They were voted by the people of Ohio. . . .

"If the present administration is so opposed to use of bond monies for capital improvements, then it should not have used the $65 million in capital improvements bonds and the $93 million in major thoroughfare bonds which it has sold."

Kidnaper Of 2 Captured By FBI In West Virginia

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ralph Ronald Jarensky Jr., subject of a three-state search to face kidnaping charges, was captured in a lonely area of Mingo County, W. Va., Wednesday night, the Cincinnati FBI office reported.

Ed Mason, agent-in-charge of the Cincinnati FBI office, said agents hidden in brush near the home of Jarensky's former girl friend captured the fugitive after a brief tussle.

Mason said Jarensky had bulled his way into the car of a Newport, Ky., grocer, Charles Elnes, 52, in Cincinnati Wednesday and forced Elnes and his wife, Abbie, 49, at gunpoint to drive him to the West Virginia area.

Mason said the Elnes couple managed to escape by driving off when Jarensky, 22, alighted outside the Mingo County home of Emojean Goudy, the girl friend, and started up a hill toward her house.

Three FBI agents who had been stalking Jarensky captured him as he approached the house.

Jarensky had been sought since he fled from a federal marshal in Covington, Ky., Monday.

FBI agents filed kidnap charges against him after he was identified as the man who Tuesday forced Albrey Howard, 39, and Virginia Rose, 40, of Covington to drive him from Covington to Cincinnati. The two were released unharmed.

Harry F. Maust, 55, of Uniontown forfeited $15 bond for speeding. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Lincoln Memorial Defaced By Vandals

WASHINGTON (AP)— Vandals have defaced the white marble Lincoln Memorial, painting "nigger lover" in foot-high pink letters on the rear wall, U.S. Park Police report.

The paint has been scrubbed off, officials said, but specialists will have to be called in to blend the damaged area with the surrounding stone.

Nelson Murdock, deputy police chief, said the vandals apparently splashed the racial slur on the wall during the darkness of Sunday night or early Monday.

No arrests have been made.

Rhodes Attacks Ohio Governor On Bond Issues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate James A. Rhodes, who has been criticized by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle for bond issue provisions in Rhodes' proposals, says the DiSalle administration has contracted $158 million in bonded indebtedness. This debt requires $27.6 million in interest charges, he added.

Rhodes disputes claims the Democratic governor seeking reelection conducted "pay-as - you-go" operation of state government.

Rhodes charges the DiSalle administration "has generated a hate program against the Legislature for devising capital improvement and war bonus bond programs which provided the $185.6 million which it has spent.

"It is crass misrepresentation of fact," Rhodes said Wednesday night, "to assert that any legislature authorized these bond issues. They were voted by the people of Ohio. . . .

"If the present administration is so opposed to use of bond monies for capital improvements, then it should not have used the $65 million in capital improvements bonds and the $93 million in major thoroughfare bonds which it has sold."

Father Files Suit In Daughter's Death

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The father of a 6-year-old Peninsula girl who was struck and killed by a Northampton School District bus Sept. 6 is suing the bus driver for $100,000.

Robert R. Deist charged in the suit filed in Summit County Common Pleas Court that alleged negligence by the bus driver, Fred W. Urbank Jr. of Cuyahoga Falls, caused the accident. The girl, Pamela, had alighted from the bus and started to cross the street when she was struck, police said.

Few Clues Reported In Holdup Of Bank

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police in nearby Norwood say they have few clues except a description of the man who robbed a branch of the Fifth-Third Union Trust Co. of $1,500.

The man, well - dressed with dark complexion, entered the bank just before noon Wednesday, taking $1,000 from one teller and the rest from another, at gunpoint.

Teller Edwin Augenstein said the robber was about 30 years old, medium height and had close-cropped black hair.

Add both chili sauce and curry powder, in discreet doses to soft cheddar cheese, for a different spread. Serve with crisp crackers.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE SEA

QUESTION: Please tell me about the sea.

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: It would be more correct to call this the planet "sea" instead of the planet "earth," for water covers seven tenths of the surface of our globe. This great mass of water, though it may look frightening at times, is actually working for all of us all the time. Water is constantly being evaporated from the ocean surface. This is fresh water; salts, in the form of dissolved minerals brought by the streams and rivers, are left behind in the sea. The evaporated water becomes cloud, which, falling on the land, gives us drinking water and causes plants to grow. The sea gives us many kinds of fish and shellfish for food. It provides our ships with an enormous highway, leading in a great many directions, to the tropics or the cold northern countries, to east or to west. Besides being so useful, the sea gives us beauty. Most of us work hard, or study hard. When we look at the sea, we seem to forget the little problems we have been so concerned with. Our minds become filled with the rhythm and majesty of the ocean and when we return to our work or our studies we are relaxed and refreshed.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Using a globe with a map on it, look for the planet "sea." There is a way to look at it where the land seems to be only little edges on both sides.

On this date:

In 1840, the first great political caricaturist, Thomas Nast, was born in Bavaria.

In 1938, the British liner Queen Elizabeth was launched at Glasgow.

In 1946, King George II of Greece returned to Athens from wartime exile in England.

Today's birthdays:

Professional football coach Jim Lee Howell and author Catherine Marshall are 48.

Thought for today:

Health — a blessing that money cannot buy — Izaak Walton.

According to the latest count, the average American woman has 2.03 children. Incidentally, the number of women with three or more children has doubled within the past 20 years.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I put old towels between the mattress and sheets on the baby's bed to keep the plastic coating on these mattresses from making the small ones to hot.

When I buy socks for the older children, I let them choose their own—within the color range I set — they remember whose-are-whose.

I keep a special set of washcloths in the kitchen drawer with the tea towels — just for wiping faces and hands as I have five children. I find this is a great timesaver.

If you want small children to learn not to slam screen doors, put an extra handle down low so that they might reach it.

And, dear Heloise, here is one last idea that I got from your old towel tricks . . . I find they make wonderful appliance covers and are much easier to keep clean than plastic ones which have to be washed by hand.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: Ever use an egg slicer to slice raw mushrooms to saute? It's sure, quick and uniform.

M.F.

Tomato Peeler

DEAR HELOISE: To peel a tomato, I spear it on a fork, hold it over the gas flame, and turn it gently until the skin breaks. Rinse under cold water, and the skin comes right off!

I have found that bleach when added in small quanitity to the last rinse water works well on white clothes for me. It soon evaporates when the clothes are dried.

Now about that tomato . . . ladies it's great! Hold it over the flame on your stove only a minute or so. Then plop it into cold water immediately.

I have found that if I want a real cold tomato for slicing . . . to lay on top of lettuce, etc. . . . that I can do the above a day ahead of time. I put the tomato back in my refrigerator and peel when ready. But best part of this method of peeling the tomato is that you don't waste any of it as you do when peeling with an ordinary paring knife. It's as prefect as a picture in an ad.

DEAR HELOISE: I find when I buy an inexpensive blouse that the underarm seam will often rip. Before even wearing blouses I now machine top-stitch the sleeve seam for about three or four inches each side of the side seam. This does not show and it strenghens the seam itself.

BRIDE

Spaghetti Saver

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know when opening a can of spaghetti, macaroni, etc., that after removing the lid it can be used to cut the contents of the food in half as it comes out of the can.

I find that after opening the can you can hit the spaghetti and when one-half falls out of the can . . . take the lid and slice cross it, letting the spaghetti drop into the pan in which you heat it.

All you have to do is to take the half-full can and put it into your refrigerator.

This is wonderful for small families who use only half a can at a time.
